PRESIDENT LED ON LONG RIDE

Starts at 2 O'Clock on Journey to Uncle's Home at Sayville.

THROUGH DARK WOOD

Is Accompanied by Oldest Son and His Cousins—Made Trip in Good Time.

LADS TAKEN FOR POACHERS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Sayville, L. I., July 23.—President Roosevelt galloped into Sayville at half past six o'clock this morning after a hard horseback ride from Oyster Bay. He was accompanied by his oldest son, Theodore, Jr., and by Philip and Emlen Roosevelt, sons of J. Emlen Roosevelt. The distance of more than 40 miles was accomplished in about four hours and a half, the party having left Sagamore Hill at 2 o'clock this morning.

The president was quite tired from the journey. His horse, Bleinstein, was somewhat galled under the saddle by the trip, and if he is not in shape by tomorrow morning to carry the president back to Oyster Bay the latter will make the journey in the automobile of his cousin, Robert B. Roosevelt, Jr. As he has important engagements, it is necessary he be back at Sagamore Hill tomorrow.

Trout fishing was prominent among the diversions of today. The president did not go to bed at all last night, but about 1:30 o'clock had Theodore, Jr., and cousins Jack and Fred, boys about his son's age, aroused, and at just 2 o'clock the party was on the road in the fag end of a thunderstorm. The president bestrode his favorite mount, Bleinstein, Theodore, Jr., was upon Wyoming, the hardy saddler presented to the president during his recent western trip. The highways were dotted with pools of water. The mud flew fast at first, but the sandy soil was fast drying.

Lost the Way Once.

The route was over the Jericho turnpike from Oyster Bay to Huntington, thence to Smithtown, about 25 miles from Sayville, and then to Lake Ronkonkoma, seven miles from Sayville. The road winds most of the way through the woods, but despite the darkness a smart pace was held, the horses being allowed frequent breathing spells, however.

Between Smithtown and Lake Ronkonkoma the president lost the road, and covered probably five miles of farm lands and cow paths before finding it again. Thus the total distance traveled was probably close to 45 miles. As he cantered into Sayville he found few people on the street. Many of these did not realize the president was passing until he had swung by. The canvasmen of a small circus were raising a tent as the mud-bespattered horsemen filed past.

Raising his somewhat damp, rough riding hat, the president returned the salutations of those who recognized him. Of a milkman he asked the way to Latus Lake, but no one was astir there when the little cavalcade rode up the driveway. A knock on the door quickly brought the president's uncle down stairs, delighted to see the president and the boys. They had been expected, of course, but Mr. Roosevelt had not known at just what hour they would arrive.

President Takes a Nap.

Breakfast was served. Then the president turned in for a sound sleep until nearly luncheon time. Theodore, Jr., and the other boys who had plenty of sleep looked around for sport. An hour later a native of Sayville rushed breathless up to the veranda of the house at Latus Lake and addressed Mr. Robert B. Roosevelt:

"There are poachers after your trout in West lake—three boys in a boat."

"Oh, no, they are not poachers," laughed Mr. Roosevelt. "One of them is the president's son, and the others are his cousins. They can have the trout they can catch."

Mr. Roosevelt's splendid trout ponds, most of the year sacred from the rod, had been thrown open to the boys, each of whom made a good catch. Theodore, Jr., showing himself especially adept at fly casting. The president lunched at "Meadowcroft," the home of John E. Roosevelt, his cousin. At this meal there was present all the Roosevelts in this vicinity. Robert B. Roosevelt, Jr., another cousin, took the president and Robert B. Roosevelt, Sr., riding in an automobile during the afternoon.

Fast Ride in an Auto.

The machine was a fast one, and although the president has never cared much for automobiling, he enjoyed the spin to Oakdale, past "Idle Hour," home of W. K. Vanderbilt, and along the road toward Patchogue. He sat on the front seat and waved his hat in response to salutations of villagers as he sped along the streets of Sayville.

There was no formal function for the president's entertainment. The citizens of Sayville abandoned a desire for a demonstration when they learned he did not care for it. Two secret service men, who came over by train from Oyster Bay last night, met the president just outside the village. The president dined tonight at Lotus Lake.

FEUDISTS AWE GRAND JURORS

No Additional Indictments Found in the Breathitt County Cases.

THREATEN WITNESS

Militia Forced to Escort Another Man from Jackson to Save His Life.

JETT AND WHITE REMOVED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Jackson, Ky., July 23.—The special grand jury adjourned this afternoon without finding any additional indictments in the Breathitt county feud cases, and the scene now shifts to Cynthiana, Harrison county, to which town Jett and White were removed from Lexington today. The trials will begin at a special term of court Monday.

There will be no further investigation of any of the cases until there is a radical change of affairs in Breathitt county and that cannot be until after there are some convictions of men already under indictment. Despite the presence of militia, life is still unsafe in Breathitt and County Judge Hargis and Sheriff Callahan still wield as strong influence as ever.

A striking instance of the unsatisfactory conditions of affairs here was illustrated today when L. T. Bolin was compelled to flee for his life and Adjutant General Murray, knowing the situation to be a desperate one, gave him military escort. It was Bolin who testified before the grand jury regarding the attempted bribery of B. J. Ewen by Gardner Plummer.

Through Plummer's wife a warning message was sent to Bolin. This message Bolin took to General Murray. Murray satisfied himself that Bolin's life would surely be taken if he remained another day. He was escorted from town before daybreak, taking a train some distance out of town. Plummer has suddenly become possessed of wealth and has been enabled also to open a store at Quick's Creek. This strengthens the case against him as to his relations with Judge Hargis.

The refusal of witnesses to testify prevented the judge from finding any indictment in the case of the assassination of Town Marshal Jim Cockerell. It seems to be the impression that little will be done until Judge Hargis and Sheriff Callahan are shorn of their power in the county.

When Capt. Ewen left early today he was compelled to move in secret to protect his life. It seems to be no secret that men have been told of to kill him.

SENATOR QUAY WILL TRY HIS HAND AT FISHING

Left the Quaker City Yesterday Afternoon for a Visit to Atlantic City.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—Senator Matthew Stanley Quay arrived in town this morning, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon left for Atlantic City. His coming east is to enjoy his favorite recreation of fishing. Beyond this, he says, he has no definite plans for the future. Quay, after breakfasting, went out in the company of State Senator "Ben" Focht of Union county. Some time was spent in the office of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, after which Senator Quay had a conference with some of the local leaders.

The customary political levee which usually attends the visits of Senator Quay to the city was lacking today. His only visitors of any importance were Col. A. K. McClure, who was one of the controlling spirits in the Union party two years ago, and former United States Senator Patterson of South Carolina, a Pennsylvanian by birth, who was national chairman of the Hays campaign a quarter of a century ago.

Senator Quay declined to say anything about the political situation.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 23.—(Special.)—Senator Quay registered at the St. Charles hotel here this afternoon. He was accompanied by Capt. Ben Sooy. They went to the inlet and embarked upon a yacht for a fishing trip. Senator Quay refused to discuss his presence here, saying he came for pleasure alone. Asked whether his visit had any political significance he said:

"Do you know of anything political that needs my attention?"

When difficulties in Pittsburgh were suggested as a possible field for his talents he said:

"Well, I am going fishing anyway and I won't be worried about harmony at this time."

Tonight a close friend of the senator's said that the cause of his visit was the situation in Pittsburgh, and that an arrangement had been made in Philadelphia that the Bigelow brothers, Murry A. Verner and possibly Recorder Hays would arrive in this city tomorrow to discuss it.

ESCAPED BABOON TRIES TO STEAL CAMPER'S CHILD

LAWRENCEBURG, IND., July 23.—(Special.)—Last night about midnight Frank Sedler, who with several members of his family was camping on the Kentucky shore of the Ohio river, above this city, was awakened by the screams of a child. Sedler rushed in the direction of the sounds and at the water's edge saw his babe struggling in the clutches of a creature half human and half beast. A shout caused the creature to drop the child and take to the water. It did not reappear upon the surface. Sedler believes that the creature was a baboon which had escaped from a boat show. The child suffered no ill effects from its experience.

KELLEY HAS TOLD ABOUT HIS MONEY

The St. Louis Briber Seriously Implicates Former Lieut.-Gov. Lee.

SECRET OF THE CHECK

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

St. Louis, July 23.—D. J. Kelley, who fled to Niagara-on-the-Lake, as the result of the legislative bribery indictments, has at last broken the silence in relation to the now celebrated $1,000 check, which he gave to Robert Lee for his brother, John M. Lee, former lieutenant governor of this state.

The check in question was dated March 2 and Lee after holding it for two weeks returned it and told Attorney General Crowe that it was bribe money. Kelley, against whom there are two indictments for the issuing of this check, makes an astonishingly frank statement in regard to the matter and seriously implicates Lee.

From the time that the legislative session of 1903 opened, Kelley says he received repeated messages both by wire and letter, from Lee begging him for money. He was sorry for the distress of the former lieutenant governor, he says, but he felt that he had done enough for him during the preceding two years and was tired of supplying his financial wants.

According to Kelley, on March 26, Lee went to New York and asked him for

AMBITIOUS STUDENTS STRANDED IN THE WEST

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—(Special.)—Fred Nuttall, an Englishman, attracted by reports of high wages in Kansas wheat fields, is penniless and endeavoring to make his way back to his wife and two children in New York. He says that the plight of the eastern students, many of them led west by hope of earning money to assist them in their studies, is extreme. They were caught between the threshing and the cutting periods, 2,000 miles from home. Last Friday, he says, 25 students were stranded in Kansas City.

IRISH SEE KING IN HIS SPLENDOR

Edward and Alexandra Held Brilliant Court in Dublin.

REVIEW OF TROOPS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Dublin, July 24.—It was after midnight when the day's festivities attending the visit of King Edward closed. The king and queen held splendid court at the castle last night, in the famous St. Patrick's hall, which was gorgeously decorated and illuminated for the occasion. Their majesties entered the hall at 10:30 p. m. with all the accompaniments of state, and took their places near the throne, which was the center of a brilliant group, including the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Earl Dudley and other high state officers in full uniform.

There they received the most representative body of the Irish nobility and the Irish people which has been seen at the castle in many years. Queen Alexandra wore a cream colored gown embroidered with gold. She wore variegated jewels in the form of shamrocks, and her diamonds were set in designs of rose, thistle and shamrock.

The influence of the sovereigns secured a social union which English statesmen had vainly sought to attain. The Irish guards acted as a guard of honor and the grand staircase was lined with Lancers. It was a function of regal magnificence and it was not until the last name on the list had been read out and the last debutante had made her curtsey that their majesties quitted the scene.

King Edward yesterday reviewed 15,000 troops and 5,000 men of the naval brigade in Phoenix park. The weather was most favorable. When the ground was packed by tens of thousands of spectators it made by far the most brilliant scene of the many witnessed since their majesties' arrival in Dublin. It was the largest muster of troops ever seen at a review in Ireland. Prior to leaving the vice-regal lodge his majesty presented colors to the Royal Hibernian Military school.

FIFTY-FOUR SOLDIERS REPORTED ASSASSINATED

VIENNA, July 23.—The Stampa and other Belgrade papers publish rumors of a revolution in Bulgaria, and that Prince Ferdinand, on the advice of his government, is about to flee, or has fled, to Belgrade. Thus far the rumors have not been officially confirmed. It is said at Belgrade that there have been 54 night assassination, mostly of soldiers on duty in Prince Ferdinand's palace guard.

DEADLY LOCKJAW THREATENS THE CITY BACTERIOLOGIST

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 23.—(Special.)—Herman Scholberg, city bacteriologist, while innoculating a guinea pig with tetanus germs thrust a needle into the index finger of his left hand. An attack of lockjaw may occur at any moment. Despite this he refuses to stop work. When the needle point pierced his finger he released the pig, cut open his finger, and thrust it into a solution of carbolic acid.

JAPAN'S WARSHIPS READY TO STRIKE AT THE RUSSIANS

Czar's Attitude In Manchuria Causes Active Preparations for Hostilities in the Far East. May Involve England and France.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

London, July 24.—The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent sends rather an alarming view of the situation in the east. He says that Russia's retention of Manchuria, the increase of her fleet, the dispatch of reinforcements to Manchuria, the southward movement of the occupying army in Manchuria and the defiant conduct on the Korean frontier alarmed the Japanese, many of whom are convinced that it would be better to fight now than risk the eventual loss of Korea and the relegation of Japan to a secondary place.

He says that the Japanese are accumulating stores and negotiating the purchase of ships; that a squadron is off Vladivostock, to which port Russian vessels have been sent as a precaution, and that both fleets are ready for action at any moment.

He says that a perusal of the Siberian press reveals the aggressive spirit of the Russian military party; that the Russians believe they will lose prestige if they give way now with the result that their far eastern empire will be lost and Japanese influence will become predominant.

The appointment of Marquis Ito as president of the privy council, the correspondent says, is favorable to peace, but that Russia must retreat or there will be very grave danger of war. He says the Japanese believe that France and England will join in the expected conflict, which diplomats at Tokio think might, if once begun, continue for years, involving disastrous results to Japanese finance and the creation of a sort of Balkan difficulty in Korea. He adds that confidence is shown in the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The criticism of the government's foreign policy continued tonight in the house of commons. Joseph Walton, a Liberal, who strongly favors an extension of British trade by means of colonial development, accused the government of a succession of humiliating surrenders in China. He said the time had arrived for facing the situation in Manchuria and Newchang.

The under foreign secretary, Lord Cranborne, in reply said that British trade in China was still increasing at a satisfactory rate and he was confident of securing a full share of railway and other valuable concessions. The government, he said, was fully aware of the position of Manchuria. The great difficulty up to the present time in negotiating with Russia was that Great Britain had never yet been able to ascertain exactly what the Russian government wanted, and the fact remained that Manchuria was still occupied. Russia's failure to fulfill her undertaking, he said, was satisfactory neither to Great Britain, Japan nor the United States.

"Our ally, Japan," he said, "is becoming uneasy at the prolongation of the occupation of Manchuria, and we are equally anxious for some kind of a settlement."

FOUND DEAD IN BATHTUB

Frederick W. Holls Succumbs to Heart Failure at His Yonkers Home.

PUBLIC CAREER ENDS

Had International Reputation as Statesman, Author and Lecturer.

WAS BORN AT ZELIENOPLE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 23.

Frederick W. Holls, secretary of the American delegation to The Hague peace conference, and more recently member of the international court, died of heart failure at 8 o'clock this morning at his home in Yonkers. He was born in Zelienople, Pa., July 1, 1857, and was the son of the Rev. Dr. George Charles Holls. He was graduated from Columbia college in 1878 and was given the degree D. C. L. by Leipsic university in 1898. He married Caroline M. Sayles of Pawtucket, R. I., in 1889.

He was in his usual health when he arose this morning. He proceeded to take his morning bath and his delay in leaving the bath room attracted attention. A servant finally opened the door and found him dead in the bath tub.

Mr. Holls was a lawyer and early took an interest in politics. He was a candidate for state senator on the Republican ticket in 1896 and was elected delegate-at-large to the constitutional convention in 1894, in which body he served as chairman of the committee on education. He was the author of amendments prohibiting public aid to sectarian schools, providing for civil service reform, and for separate elections for state and municipal offices.

As an author the deceased was also well known, having written upon mediation for the settlement of international difficulties, upon compulsory voting, upon The Hague peace conference and upon many political topics. He was also known as a lecturer. In 1902, Mr. Holls was a candidate for the American ambassadorship to Germany, but he was not appointed. During Prince Henry's visit to New York, he was prominent in his entertainment, and made a speech at the banquet.

Later Mr Holls went to Germany and was received by Emperor William, who some years before had declined to see him. During The Hague conference he also had a special audience with the czar. At the time of his death Mr. Holls was a prominent member of the court of international arbitration for Siam. Last May President Roosevelt offered Mr. Holls the post of umpire in the claims against Venezuela, but he refused to act.

The funeral of Mr. Holls will take place from St. John's Episcopal church, Yonkers, on Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

UNION BOOKBINDERS PRESENT THEIR CASE

Will Resist Employment of Miller in the Government Printing Office.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 23.—President Barrett of the Bookbinders' union said today that no action of any kind relating to the case of W. E. Miller, who was expelled by the Bookbinders' union and reinstated by President Roosevelt in the government printing office would be taken until after the president and public printer had time to consider the documents submitted by the union yesterday and today to Secretary Cortelyou.

President Barrett, accompanied by W. E. Gallagher, financial secretary, and James A. Stockman, recording secretary of the union, called today on Secretary Cortelyou, with whom they filed a supplementary statement and discussed the case. These papers were forwarded to the president so that he will have an opportunity of acting if he should so decide, before W. E. Miller presents himself for work. Such presentation, it is believed, would precipitate trouble as the bookbinders' regulations prevent them from working with an expelled member.

Former President Feeny of the Bookbinders' union, who works in the government printing office, made this statement today:

"President Roosevelt must admit that in his appointment of the coal strike commission the claim of the miners' union for recognition was granted and the operators were forced to recognize the union. In demanding the recognition of the existence of our union we are asking no more of the government than we do of private establishments. We are thoroughly organized and have been for more than 50 years. We are not granted any more privileges in the governmental bindery than we have received in private binderies, the rules and regulations being the same in both. Miller will not come back."

AMERICANS AND GERMANS ON MONETARY CHANGES

BERLIN, July 23.—The conference of the American and Mexican monetary commissions with the German representatives were concluded today. The Americans and Mexicans will proceed to St. Petersburg on Sunday. A unanimous agreement on a series of resolutions was reached regarding a uniform monetary system for China on a gold basis with a silver circulation. The resolution declares it to be desirable for both China and the gold using countries trading there for a ratio of the silver coins to gold to be fixed. But the German delegates passed a resolution to the effect that Germany does not need to buy silver, having already about 100,000,000 above her requirements in circulation. The resolutions disclaim promoting bimetallism or any change in the monetary system of the gold countries.

THOUSANDS SEE REMAINS

Multitude of All Nations Take Last Look at Dead Pope.

LEO'S RING IS LOST

The Fisherman's Emblem to Be Broken at Ceremony Cannot Be Found.

BODY LAY IN STATE ALL DAY

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, July 23.—The report is circulated in the ante-chambers of the vatican that it is impossible to find Leo's annulo piscatorius, fisherman's ring, which after death always is broken in the presence of the conclave. Monsignor Bisaleti, who should have the ring, says he knows nothing about it. Cardinal Macchi and Monsignor Cagiano, Leo's masters of ceremony, say they have not seen it.

Since the time of the Cæsars Rome has not witnessed a more wonderful spectacle than that of today when men and women gathered in and around St. Peter's to see the dead Leo.

The body of the dead pontiff lay all day in state in the basilica of St. Peter's. From dawn until nightfall and after that, the great and lowly of the Catholic church came to gaze on the colorless features of him who in the history of the papacy will be known as the democratic pope. At 6 o'clock the bells of St. Peter's began to toll a dirge for the soul of him who will forever lay under its vaulted dome. Two regiments of Italian grenadiers had marched silently into the piazza and had taken position to the right and left of the entrance of the church.

Awaited Opening of the Doors.

Before sunrise thousands of the faithful had come into the shadows of the church and awaited the opening of the great doors. These were reinforced by a motley throng from all the other hills of Rome, from across the Tiber and from the four corners of the world. With the swinging back of the doors the crowd of 80,000 people began to press into the church. They passed in front of the dead pontiff and lost themselves in the labyrinths of the temple.

It was a strange procession. It typifies the universality of Catholicism. It accentuated the democracy of Leo's life. All nations were represented. All the grades of human society sent delegates. Princes walked with paupers. Aristocracy touched elbows with the proletariat. Saints joined with sinners. Priests, nuns, old men and children pressed toward the bier.

France sent pilgrims from Paris and from Normandy. Lithe men from Spain made way for big men from beyond the Danube. The faithful from Japan and China and the isles of the Indian ocean uncovered with turbanned rags from the Nile's headwaters and the brown men of the Syriac rite, who in turn followed the travelers from Armenia.

There Was No Confusion.

Solemn-visaged pilgrims from South America and short men from Mexico walked slowly along with Englishmen, Americans and Irish. Men and women from all nations gathered for a last tribute, and prayers for the repose of Leo's soul were offered in every language. All day men and women came and saw and prayed and went their way.

There was work for the soldiers from the Quirinal, but there was no confusion. In the presence of the dead the mourners became considerate and were not excited.

At 9 o'clock, when 50,000 persons had come into St. Peter's, a solemn requiem mass was chanted at the great altar behind the bier of Leo. Franciscans in brown habits in dreary tones recited the office for the dead. The droning voices of the monks and the Gregorian chant of the mass singers blended in a strange unison with the footfalls of those who came to see and to pray.

The will of Leo was opened today. It consists of 26 pages in his handwriting and leaves all his property to his successor for the use of the church. To each member of his family he leaves a present to be chosen from the valuable objects in his apartments. Similar presents are bequeathed to his physicians.

All the land purchased and buildings erected for institutions personally founded by Leo are put in the name of the holy see, to avoid possible claims of relatives, as the pope probably remembers that some time after the death of Pius IX. the latter's nephews instituted a suit against the church, claiming 15,000 francs as their portion of the estate.

PAYING THE LOANS.

Pennsylvania Company Yesterday Commenced Liquidating Indebtedness.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—(Special.)—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company began paying off today the $40,000,000 loan which was made several months ago and which falls due between now and Monday. The payment will not be reflected in tomorrow's bank statement. It should, however, quite favorably affect that of the following week and will in every way improve the money market position.

The payment of $40,000,000 notes within such a short period is an unusual occurrence. While most of the money has been loaned temporarily on the street, it will now be returned in full to the lenders and will make possible many adjustments of the market necessary for the preparations for the autumn season of active money.

DEMOCRATS HOLD COUNCIL OF WAR

Leader Johnson of Cleveland Plans to Capture Legislature.

AIMING AT HANNA'S DEFEAT

Secret Meeting Held at Cleveland to Prepare for the Campaign—Democratic Governor is Considered a Matter of Only Secondary Importance.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, July 23.—An important conference was held this evening at the home of Mayor Johnson, which was attended by Democrats from various parts of the state. The purpose of the gathering was to discover means of defeating the re-election of Senator Hanna. The Democrats were called to discuss with Johnson the chances of carrying the close legislative districts. The meeting was surrounded with secrecy, those attending it avoiding hotels and concealing their identity.

Mayor Johnson evidently believes it possible to carry the legislature for the Democrats, and he said the other day he deemed that of more importance than the election of a Democratic governor. He has thus far refused to stand as a candidate for governor and he declared today that he would not take the nomination unless it was forced upon him. It is the general impression that he desires the senatorship and will ask for it if the legislature is Democratic.

BOY'S STORY MAY BRING PARENTS TO GALLOWS

Testifies in Court That He Saw Them Murder His Little Playmate.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 23.—Julius Wiltrax, 11 years old, tousel-haired, grim-faced, ferret-eyed, took the stand in Judge Kersten's court today and swore that his father and mother killed his 6-year-old playmate, Paul Paszkowski, in the saloon of his father at Hanson park, two months ago.

"Do you love your mother?" asked the counsel for the two defendants.

For answer the boy started to sob and kept it up for several minutes.

A dramatic feature of the session was the mother's curse upon Mr. and Mrs. Wiltrax. Just as Julius Wiltrax finished his evidence Mrs. Paszkowski, weeping bitterly, turned toward the couple charged with the murder of her son.

"You murderers, may the curse of God strike you down. Why did you kill my poor boy?"

The boy stated that he was sleeping back of the saloon; he heard a shot and ran in; saw little Paul lying on the floor and his father holding a smoking revolver. His mother stood near; his father picked up Paul and carried him to the basement, then charged him to say nothing and gave him a bicycle and new clothes. The boy proved an excellent witness and his evidence could not be shaken.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—(Special.)—President Charles M. Schwab, through his secretary, Mr. Wrenn, applied to the state department in Harrisburg today for a license to operate a gasoline touring car in this state. DROWNING WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

Companion of Evan Lewis, Port Vue Striker, Says He Was Not Shot.

INQUEST IN THE COLLINS CASE

Despondency Over Ill-Health Caused Widow to Commit Suicide—Man Walked Into River and Is Drowned. Other Morgue Cases Yesterday.

Deputy Coroner John P. Black yesterday held an inquest into the death of Evan Lewis, one of the strikers of the Port Vue tinplate works, who was drowned in the Youghiogheny river Wednesday. The verdict returned was that the death was accidental and not the result of a bullet from a deputy sheriff's revolver, as reported.

Alexander McPhee, who was with Lewis when he was drowned, testified that they had been drinking together and had gone to the works. When they reached the plant they became alarmed over the blowing of a deputy's whistle, and thinking they were pursued, plunged into the river. No bullet wounds were found on the body.

The inquest into the death of Fred R. Collins, whose body was found in a field at Center avenue and Aliquippa street on April 7 was held yesterday. The jury rendered a verdict that Collins came to his death at the hands of some unknown persons and recommended that they be apprehended, to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder. Detective Richard Kelly told the jury that it was the desire of the district attorney to close the hearing in the inquest, as the commonwealth had no further evidence to offer. The inquest in this case was postponed seven times before the jury reached a verdict. Collins was a coachman and was killed by some blunt instrument, and from the appearance of the body and the condition of the ground it is evident that Collins was carried after his death to the place where found.

Calvert Cunningham, aged 23 years, employed by the Monongahela and Western Dredging Company, is supposed to have walked into the Allegheny river shortly after midnight yesterday and to have been drowned. Coroner Black presided, and made a speech. So did Benjamin Hanford, candidate for governor of New York, on the social democratic ticket, at the last election. Col. Geiger introduced Mother Jones who was greeted with cheers. She answered questions put to her by the spectators.

Julia Knopp, a widow, 49 years old, of Woodville, committed suicide at her home some time yesterday afternoon. She was despondent on account of ill-health. When her son returned home from work at 6 o'clock he found her lying on the bed with a bullet hole through her heart.

Harry D. Wood, 28 years old, a brakeman and married, of Pitcairn, was killed on the Pennsylvania railroad at that station yesterday by falling between the cars and being run over.

The body of Charles E. Olenschlager, a porter in a hotel at Economy, was found in the river at Rochester yesterday. He had taken a few days' vacation and went to a camp near Rochester, and while crossing the river with some companions, fell in. His parents reside at Crafton.

Mr. T. Chalmers Johnston,
Agent Raymond & Whitcomb Co.,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

My dear Mr. Johnston:

As you are interested in getting us fixed up for this journey, we flatter ourselves you would care to hear how we were progressing, after a month on the wing.

We are now steaming away over the North sea. Our anticipations have been to be tossed mightily over, but are happy to say we instead have a calm sea; sun shining brightly and a very agreeable atmosphere, hence we all feel very much pleased, much pleasanter than our trip across the Atlantic ocean, which was freighted with high east winds; hence we were rocked in the cradle of the deep.

Capt. Higgins met us at Plymouth and a gentleman of the town who gave us a welcome having arranged for us some nice things, but we being behind time, arriving at 9 p. m. instead of a. m. we had to skip them all.

I will say Mr. Stuart did nicely for us all the way over, and handed us over to the captain, who met us in his genial and whole-heartedness. Next morning found us on our beautiful tour.

We being the pioneer party through this section gave us very much pleasure, not only for the lovely journey we had, but everywhere we were met with cordial greetings, escorts and the enjoyable luncheons, the mayor of Exeter and his interesting daughters gave us in their own home; some of his high officials were with us at this hospitable and delightful entertainment. Everywhere the people delighted to do the Raymond & Whitcomb Company honor in making our visit interesting. The captain has it all arranged first class, in hotels, vehicles and railroading. A special was engaged and placed at his disposal until we arrived at the dock, where we embarked for the North Cape trip. The tally-ho rides amidst those beautiful scenes was charming.

All was done so happily and gay with the Alpine horn and all the flourishes given for our pleasure, and the captain knows how to bring it up to successful journeyings.

We were charmed with those ancient ruins of Abbey cathedral and buildings, etc.; the captain had us see them all intelligently; he spared nothing in giving them to us; he has the faculty in hunting up beauty spots on tour.

He has written to you that we go to Russia with him around to Vienna; then he will ship us to Paris and from Cherbourg on the 5th of September we return to the United States of America, and you will see that our tickets will be on time. In writing to the Raymond & Whitcomb Company please tell them how successfully the first party was taken through the itinerary layed out by the captain, and how pleased the people were in the prospect of this being an annual occurrence.

Many thanks for all favors. Sister joins in very kind regards. Very cordially,

(Signed) J. M. SMITH.

GOVERNMENT MAY BUILD WARSHIPS

Tie-Up of Contracts by Shipbuilding Company Suggests Alternative.

FACILITIES AT THREE YARDS

Rear Admiral O'Neil, President of the Board of Construction, Favors the Plan—Would Command Better Terms and Save Money.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23.

Shipbuilding in government navy yards has at last found favor with high officials of the navy department and may be recommended to congress as the alternative to be taken in case the troubles of the United States Shipbuilding Company come to a crisis and delay work on the 18 warships now contracted for by the companies comprising the company. Rear Admiral O'Neill, president of the board of construction, takes the position that the navy yards of the country will be greatly increased in value if given constant work; that at least three navy yards on the Atlantic coast, New York, Norfolk and Boston, have the facilities for turning out battleships, and that by inaugurating the policy of building its own ships the government will be able to command better terms from private builders.

Admiral Bowles has made the important discovery that in inspection work along the government will save 2 per cent in the total cost of the ship. As the Connecticut is the first battleship to be built by the government, the work is in a measure experimental, but it has gone far enough and satisfactorily enough to convince the chief constructor and the members of his corps that the government is entirely competent to build some of its own ships each year.

MEMBERS OF SOME LABOR UNIONS WANT ALL MILITIAMEN EXPELLED

There may be some soldiers who went away to the camp at Somerset last night that on their return will find themselves outside the folds of labor organizations to which they formerly belonged. In almost every labor organization there are a number of men who are opposed to the militia and against these who belong to it. These men are doing all in their power to prevent persons from joining the national guard and work against any militiamen who make efforts to join labor organizations. They also favor expelling from the unions all that wear the khaki. So far they have not been so successful as have similar men in other parts of the country, notably in Uniontown and Meadville, where troopers were put out of the labor organizations.

The going away of the local troops to camp has stirred to renewed efforts the anti-military men in some labor unions. Among the crowds that watched the soldiers leave town last evening there were several men who scrutinized the militiamen closely. Their object was to find out who were members of the guard and to see if any were members also of the unions to which the watchers belonged. One said without the least bit of reticence:

"If I find any members of our union marching along I'll bet he won't be a member long. Out he goes if my friends and I have any influence in the organization, and I think we have."

"But how are you going to put out men on such a flimsy pretext as belonging to the militia?"

"Oh, we do not expect to expel them on that charge," was the reply. "We easily can get some kind of an excuse. You see, many members of the militia do not want it known that they are soldiers, and we don't know exactly how many are in our organization. That's why I am camping out here—just to spot them."

A special telegram from Dallas, Texas, states that the labor unions there have ordered their members to withdraw from the national guard.

some money that he had promised him. Kelley replied:

"I don't consider that you have done anything for me, but I guess I can let you have a thousand." When Kelley reached St. Louis a week later he handed the $1,000 check to Robert E. Lee at the Planter's hotel. March 31, 1903, Kelley received the following written request signed John A. Lee:

"Paper you gave Bob cannot be used at present; I will have it returned and you can send New York exchange payable to Mrs. Lee."

This Kelley refused to do. "Now," said Kelley, "if I attempted to bribe Lee in that instance, why did he not mention all the checks of a similar nature that I had sent to him?" Mr. Kelley then showed correspondent nine other checks for sums aggregating $2,250, which he said he sent Lee between November 21, 1901 and December 14, 1902.

MYERS GOES FREE.

Suit Against One Port Vue Striker Dropped by Prosecutor at Hearing.

Strikers at the Port Vue plant of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company were considerably elated yesterday over the discharge of William Myers, a striker, who was charged with assault and battery by Constable J. Stine. The hearing was held before Alderman W. D. Mansfield and Myers was represented by Attorney William J. Brennen of Pittsburgh. The case against Patrick Kelley, charged with assault and battery by W. H. Humphries, was continued till today in order to allow Humphries to secure Edward Gricks, a witness.

The trouble out of which the suits grew occurred early last Tuesday morning while Constable Stine was on duty at the tin mill. Myers claimed he did not strike Stine, but simply took hold of him and forced him away from the scene of the trouble. This Stine admitted but the Alderman was slow to push the case, stating that on the evidence given by Myers he could be convicted in court. Stine refused to continue the prosecution and Myers was dismissed.

Alderman Mansfield's court was crowded with strikers during the hearing and at its conclusion the alderman lectured the strikers and warned them that they must keep their hands off men wishing to go to work or there will be trouble.

Both the strikers and mill officials claimed gains yesterday. The whole plant is in operation all day. Matters about the plant were quiet during the day. During the afternoon two strikers took a revolver from a non-unionist by force.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Several pieces of hose similar to that used on the cars were found in the cobbler's shop. He was last night held for court trial by Justice W. R. Nicholson of Espien on a charge of larceny.

In New Orleans the price of August cotton was forced up to 14 cents, or 125 points higher than the maximum prices established in this city.

A route is being surveyed from Washington via Bishop on the main line of the road, which will pass through Houston and Midland and leave Canonsburg off to the left. WANT TARIFF LAWS CHANGED

Furniture Association Passes Resolutions Asking for Amendments.

TWO SALIENT POINTS NAMED

Congressman William C. Lovering of Massachusetts Delivers Dissertation Upon His "Drawback" Bill of the Last Session.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 23.—The Furniture Association of America, a national organization of retail dealers, manufacturers and their representatives, began its first annual convention here tonight. The meeting was held by 200 delegates from all parts of the United States, and William C. Lovering, representative in congress of the Fourteenth Massachusetts district, was the principal speaker, discussing "Practical Methods of Extending Our Export Trade."

Resolutions were adopted asking legislation on the present prohibitory tax on alcohol be enacted and that laws relating to the payment of drawback on exported articles of domestic manufacture be amended as provided for in the bill introduced in the last congress by Mr. Lovering. Congressman Lovering, in his address said in part:

It has come to be a pretty well established fact that a tax for revenue on the lines of protection to American industries has yielded a fuller measure of public welfare than a tax for revenue only, but it does not follow that the highest and most prohibitory tax is the most protective tax. It is a fact that most of the industries of our country today are sorely in need of new outlets in the markets of the world for their products, and that the tariff should be so laid that the doors may sometimes swing outward as easily as they swing inward.

Statistics show that within the past 25 years the number of factories has been doubled; the amount of capital invested has quadrupled, the number of employes nearly three times as great, and the total value of their annual product has grown from $5,369,000,000 in 1850 to $13,000,000,000. The productive power the country is steadily outgrowing the consuming power, and our factories are being directly confronted with an increasing surplus of products which are required for domestic consumption. The question remains, how can we increase our sales of manufactured articles in foreign markets? The present drawback law has greatly helped to further the export trade in articles made wholly or in part from imported duty-paid materials. It has been found, however, that the requirement that the imported materials on which duties shall be paid be positively identified as having been used in the manufacture of any specific lot of exported articles on which a drawback has been claimed, tends to make the reasonable of drawback a difficult and complicated matter.

Mr. Lovering then spoke in favor of a bill which he introduced providing that in cases where the imported materials cannot be identified drawback shall be allowed, provided that a quantity of materials similar to that on which drawback is claimed have been used in the production of the exported articles.

Another proposition said Mr. Lovering is that the time limit of our internal revenue laws so as to provide for a system of sweet alcohol for manufacturing purposes. Here then is an opportunity for the friends of protection to show that they are not doing the sincerity of their solicitude for the home producer. If our legislators are wise they will not antagonize the great growing sentiment in favor of tariff revision, whether it comes under what is known as the "free raw idea" or that older and country-wide demand that has been forcing itself upon the attention of the party leaders for the past few years.

Nothing less than a liberal drawback law enacted at the next session of congress will save the pro ective tariff from a fearful onslaught at the next democratic house. The only way to hold the friends of protection together is by the recognition of the material interests of our great and expanding industries. They also need and must have every possible outlet in the market of the world for their products.

HUSBAND USED A RIFLE.

Objected to Another Negro Paying Attentions to His Wife.

Warick Elom, 37 years old and colored, was shot last night by Ammon Taylor, 38 years old, in a quarrel at a negro boarding house at No. 961 Second avenue. Taylor avers that Elom has been paying too much attention to his wife, and he has repeatedly warned Elom to stay away. Last night Taylor and Elom had just returned from a walk when Taylor met them at the door. He fired at Elom and inflicted a slight flesh wound in the right shoulder with a robert rifle.

The men are stokers in the Philadelphia Company gas house on Second avenue and have been living in the same house. Elom is single. Policemen James Porter and John Dunn arrested the trio.

HE KILLED HIS MAN BUT STILL SAYS GRACE

MIDDLEBURG, KY., July 23.—After killing one man and fatally wounding another, Robert Lee, a minister at Linnie, said grace at the jail table in Liberty. Lee became involved in a quarrel with Ellis Woods and the latter's son and the shooting followed, in which the preacher proved himself more than a match for both of his opponents, for he succeeded in killing Woods and fatally wounding his son. The "Fighting Parson," was then arrested and taken to the jail at Liberty, where he peacefully returned thanks at the table with the other prisoners.

FELL THREE STORIES AND WALKED AWAY

Howard Cursier, a contractor, fell from the third story of the Merchants and Manufacturers bank building, in Fourth avenue, yesterday, alighting on the pavement, and got up and walked away. In falling he struck the electric feed wires in the street and received a painful scalp wound. Henry Walzhaus of Lincoln avenue fell from the second-story window of the Pittsburgh Upholstering Company's place in Collins avenue, East End, during the afternoon and received internal injuries which it is said will cause his death.

ELLIS GLENN AGAIN TO APPEAR FOR TRIAL

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., July 23.—(Special.)—The supreme court of the United States having reversed the United States circuit court and refused the writ of habeas corpus which the circuit court had granted, Ellis Glenn, the alleged male impersonator, charged with forgery, was today formally turned over to the criminal court of Wood county and placed under bond to appear for trial again at the next term of court in September. She has been clerking in a store for some time, attired in woman's apparel. It is thought the evidence at the next trial will be even more sensational than at the former one.

Coal Company Incorporated.

The Occidant Coal & Coke Company of Pittsburgh was incorporated in Charleston, W. Va., yesterday, to mine coal and manufacture coke. The capital stock is $150,000. The incorporators are Thomas Reynolds and A. P. Anderson of McKeesport; K. W. Daly, N. Newcome and W. M. Henderson of Charleroi, Pa.

Crusade Against Druggists.

Two druggists, Philip Anties, No. 101 Fourth avenue, and M. H. Taylor, No. 716 Wylie avenue, were arrested yesterday, the former charged with selling liquor and cocaine, and the latter liquor without a prescription. Safety Director Moore has found that this practice is general with druggists, and has started a crusade to stop it.

GUARD LEAVES FOR SOMERSET

Cheers Given Local Militia Organizations When They Departed for Brigade Camp.

THE TENTH MEN WERE HAPPY

Veterans of the Philippines Cheer Comrades of the Fourteenth—Big Crowds Thronged Downtown Streets—Troop Trains Well Handled by B. & O.

Enthusiastic was the send-off given last night to the local commands of the National Guard of Pennsylvania when they departed for Camp William McKinley at Somerset. Never before had so many people lingered in downtown thoroughfares to say farewell to the soldiers. The four long troop trains carrying the Tenth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments left the Water street station of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad without delay, the boys in khaki receiving the applause of 5,000 people when they assembled on the station platform.

Battery B was the first organization to leave. The guns and camp equipage were entrained at the East Liberty freight station and the battery started for camp at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The Tenth regiment came in from the outlying towns and assembled at the Baltimore & Ohio station in time to leave shortly before 10 o'clock. The Fourteenth marched up from its Market street armory and departed at 10:10, occupying a train of 13 cars. The Eighteenth rode in from its Craft avenue armory in trolley cars and formed in Grant street, marching thence to the station, where it embarked in two sections. The last train, which was left to pick up the stragglers, left at 11:15.

Unprecedented enthusiasm was shown at the station. The Tenth was the first to march up and strode in on the platform just as the belated sections of the seashore excursion trains drew out of the train sheds. The cheering which began then did not cease until the last soldier had departed. The Tenth was met at the station by a number of civilians who had seen service with the old command in the Philippines and a jolly reunion followed. The veterans seized the rifles from the men in uniform and insisted on giving an impromptu drill for the edification of their old comrades.

While this was going on the Fourteenth, headed by the Second Brigade band, tramped through the gates and strode past to the cars. A mighty cheer went up from the throats of the country soldiers. The boys in the Fourteenth were overwhelmed by their reception. When the soldiers reach Somerset it has been planned to reciprocate the reception.

In both regiments the colonels were absent. Col. Frank I. Rutledge of the Eighteenth is ill and Lieut. Col. J. Harry Corbett had charge of the command. Owing to illness in the family of Col. W. E. Thompson, Lieut. Col. J. Conrad Kay took command. In both regiments each company mustered an average of 65 men. Capt. Murray Livingston, ordnance officer, picked out the camp followers last night as the troops marched through the gates at the station, and prevented more than half a score of men and boys from getting free transportation to Somerset at the expense of the state.

There were few stragglers. In the Eighteenth the provost guard were particularly active and a number of men who had imbibed too much were placed under arrest. There was the usual outpouring at the armories and around the station and the usual affectionate farewells. The brigade encampment is looked upon as a big holiday, and the parting of lovers was marked by the absence of the traditional tears.

SECOND BRIGADE CAMP READY FOR GUARDSMEN

Gen. Wylie and a Portion of His Staff Arrive—Town Crowded With Visitors.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SOMERSET, PA., July 23.—All is in readiness for the arrival of the last of the Second brigade here early tomorrow morning. The Fifth regiment is already in camp, the rear guard coming in from Johnstown this evening. Company D of Blairsville is tonight detailed for provost duty.

The Fourteenth, Sixteenth and Sheridan troop camps lie near the pike. Fronting them, across the road, lie the camps of the Fifth, Tenth, Battery B and Eighteenth. Near the Eighteenth is brigade headquarters and off to the south division headquarters.

The town is thronged tonight with visitors. Every train has added to the population and arrangements are being made for a number of social affairs. The culminating occasion will be the grand ball on Thursday evening, Governor's day.

The arrival of the troops tomorrow morning will in reality open the camp, although officially Camp William McKinley will date from Saturday morning. Gen. Wylie, commander of the brigade, with Maj. McClair, Capt. Jefferis and Maj. Reynolds, arrived this afternoon.

The plans of the Eighteenth camp were changed on the arrival of Quartermaster Karch, who found that much of the camp lay in a swamp. "My men are not ducks," he said, and ordered a new camp surveyed. This was done today and all except the company mess tents put up.

TWO GREAT PICTURES.

Historical Paintings to Be Exhibited at the New Exposition.

Two paintings secured for exhibition in the new exposition are sure to be immensely attractive. The larger one measures 24 by 18 feet, is named "Unter den Linden," was painted by Scarbina, and was purchased by a Pittsburgher for $6,000 in Berlin, where it had been on public view for six years. Prominent figures in this work are Emperor William I. and Queen Victoria seated in a royal equipage and being leisurely drawn through the famous street to the admiring gaze of a large throng.

The smaller painting, 11 by 21 feet, represents Stanley at the mouth of the Congo, and is likewise the possession of a prominent Pittsburgher, who secured it in Berlin at a cost of $5,000. Two eminent artists produced this wonderful work—Prof. Koerner, landscape worker, and Prof. Gentz, noted for his fine figures. Both paintings will be companions to "Custer's Last Charge," valued at $25,000, and all three will be hung by experts in the big lobby of the main exposition building.

The coming season of 46 days will open on the night of Wednesday, September 2, with Creatore and his famous band as the musical attraction.

CHASED A WIFE-BEATER.

Mt. Washington Man Who Took Refuge in Coal Mine to Go to Workhouse.

Residents of Mt. Washington threatened to lynch an alleged wife-beater, Fred Schreiber of Oak row, Boggs avenue. After chasing the man for half a mile he escaped by taking refuge in an abandoned coal mine. Finally he was arrested and lodged in police station No. 7.

Schreiber, it is alleged, often attacked his wife. She attended a picnic Wednesday and had been told by her husband to come home not later than 8 o'clock. She was 20 minutes late and Schreiber commenced to chastise her. Witnesses stated that he choked and abused her in a frightful manner until neighbors interfered and chased him into the mine. Yesterday morning the man was arraigned before Magistrate Joseph H. Vitchestain and sentenced to pay $50 and undergo 20 days' imprisonment in the workhouse.

HARMONY NOT YET EFFECTED

Republican County Committee Not Concerned in One Phase of Citizens Difficulty.

NOT TO INTERFERE IN CITY

Secretary Charles Muehlbronner Gives the View of Allegheny Republicans on Peace Negotiations—Something Definite May Develop Today in Situation.

There were no joint meetings yesterday between the leaders of the Republican and the Citizens parties, although the usual conferences of the leaders of each, among themselves, were held. Representatives of both sides said that no harmony arrangement had been effected, but Citizens people did not seem to despair that something might come of the present negotiations.

Senator Charles A. Muehlbronner, secretary of the Republican county committee, said:

"I told Chairman Thomas J. Ford that the Republicans of Allegheny, so far as I have been able to ascertain, are perfectly willing that the Citizens party members who wish to join the Republican party in Allegheny may come through the door that is open for them by taking part in our primaries. They would welcome all former Republicans back to the fold, but they would offer them no special inducements."

It is recognized by the officers of the Republican county committee that questions concerning Pittsburgh and Allegheny politics will have to be settled before there can be harmony, but they cannot see why the county committee should interfere with affairs that concern the cities. They feel, therefore, that if the Citizens wish harmony they can come into the Republican county primaries, irrespective of their differences with the city organizations.

The Citizens party people argue that even if they should make peace with the county organization of Republicans without having first made their peace with the city Republicans, they would have committed themselves without securing harmony with the Republican city committee. To this the reply of the county committee officers is: That matter does not concern the county committee, the Citizens are welcome to enter the Republican primaries if they wish first to adjust their differences with the city Republicans, let them do so; but they ought not to ask the county committee to do the work for them.

Under these conditions it may possibly be some time before full harmony can be finally decided upon. The city Republicans may be said to be in a receptive mood as regards propositions from the Citizens party's leaders, but they realize the advantage in the political situation now occupied by the Republican party and they will not sacrifice a thing of importance.

It is asserted positively that in the negotiations there has been no discussion as to the personnel of the candidates to be nominated in September, the theory being that if the Citizens enter the Republican primaries they can, if they wish, vote for candidates from their own ranks or for any other candidate that may be seeking the support of the Republican voters.

Mayor Hays, Murry A. Verner and Thomas S. Bigelow had a conference in Verner's office yesterday. It was supposed that some conclusion regarding the peace proposition would be reached, so that something definite may result today.

RULED OUT OF ORDER.

P. J. Murphy Wanted McKeesport Councils to Look Up Bribery Rumors.

Common Councilman P. J. Murphy of McKeesport at last night's meeting introduced a resolution that a committee of common councilmen be appointed to confer with a similar committee from select council to investigate the charges of bribery in connection with the passage of the ordinance vacating Gould alley, which passed McKeesport's common council last evening. The motion was ruled out of order by Temporary Chairman John Carter. The Gould alley vacation ordinance was rushed through first and second reading after an hour and a half's wrangling. Five amendments introduced to curtail the gift, were voted down.

City Engineer Thomas White reported that former City Engineer Frank S. Hallan has so far failed to reply to the city clerk's notice asking him to return any city property he has. It had been reported that Mr. Hallan, who is still a civil engineer, uses in his business many appliances belonging to the city.

VETS GOING TO SOMERSET.

Not Permitted to Camp Out With the Second Brigade Boys.

The reunion of the Veteran association, Tenth Pennsylvania infantry, U. S. V., which was last year fixed for July 31 in Pittsburgh, if the monument to Col. Hawkins could be completed for that time, will be held in Somerset on Thursday, July 30.

It was at first desired to hold the reunion in camp with the National Guard, but this was thought unadvisable by Brig.-Gen. John A. Wiley of the Second brigade, so the meetings of the association will be held in the court house at Somerset and members of the old command will merely visit the camp of the present regiment.

Will Look Up Produce Yards.

Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety stated yesterday that an investigation would be started at once into the condition of the railroad produce yards. These yards have become in bad condition and are said to need cleaning. The director said he thought Supt. G. W. Moore, of the health bureau, was looking after the matter, but that if not he himself will make an examination.

Nine Dollars and a Half.

The Price Today for Women's $15 and $20 Foulard Silk Shirtwaist Suits.

But they will not be ready—well, say, until about 11:30 or 12 o'clock. Somehow or other express stuff doesn't get around until 11 o'clock. We'll have to be given a little time to get the suits out of the boxes and to the department.

These suits on sale today are the result of some of the quickest acting and thinking anyone ever did. Our buyer, now in New York, bought a great lot of these $15 and $20 Suits and sent them on for yesterday's sale. But the way women came for them proved the lot to be only a mere handful. At 9 o'clock we foresaw that the line would be closed out at noon. The question was how to get New York and get more here today. We got into telephone communication with the manufacturer and found he had some 200 Suits left. He was to get them off by evening express, and unless the cars jump the track the suits will be ready at noon.

Several descriptions of these fine silk suits have already been given. No need to again go into detail. No woman ever spent nine dollars and a half to better advantage.

P. S.—Late last night, upon a telegram from New York, we figured that it was possible to get these dresses out of the express car upon its arrival this morning. If so, they will be ready by 10 o'clock. But please bear in mind the matter rests on a possibilty.

Bathing Suits.

Men's and women's, boys' and girls. If you are going out with next week's excursion, you might just as well take a little time and select the right kind of a bathing suit. We don't know anything that is quite so repugnant as to go, say, to Atlantic City and have to depend upon the bathhouses for a bathing suit. About what you would pay for one of these bathhouse suits in a week's time would pay for one of our good suits.

Friday, July 24, 1903.

Announcement was made yesterday of the consolidation of the two principal concerns supplying cab and baggage transfer service. In connection it was said the purchasing company is planning improved facilities. We should hope so. There is vast room for improvement in service and charges. The first has been execrable and the second well-nigh extortionate. The Gazette referred to this matter months ago and published the schedule of rates obtaining in other cities. There is no reason why Pittsburgh should not have as good cab and baggage transfer service as any other city, nor is there any good reason why Pittsburgh or visitors of the city should be charged more for such service than in any other town.

The results of compulsory arbitration in New Zealand are still a subject of controversy, but they are evidently not such as to discredit the principle, as the movement is spreading. The Australian general government has taken up the matter and a measure for the establishment of the system has been framed. The bill establishes a court of conciliation and arbitration, to consist of a president and four members to be appointed by the governor general. There are stringent provisions for the prevention of strikes and lockouts, the penalties including two months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,500. The bill does not allow capital and labor to fight out their disputes, but compels them to come into court and submit their differences for adjudication.

The Second brigade, National Guard of Pennsylvania, is off for its annual encampment, which is this year located at Somerset. The citizen soldiers of Allegheny county and the remainder of Western Pennsylvania, comprising the brigade named, have earned praise upon many occasions for soldierly qualities in service. They have never been called upon and found wanting. This annual encampment is their period of real military work, and it is hard work at that. They get a mere pittance for it from the state, the remainder being charged to account against their patriotism. The boys were cheered on the streets of the city last evening as they deserved to be, and it will be no more than a fair recognition for the people to get busy, while they are away, in preparing for the armory fund that will soon be needed.

Another meeting of the committee charged with the duty of investigating the health bureau is scheduled for this evening. If it does not come off the public will have a right to know why. There was no meeting Wednesday evening because no quorum was present. Some absentees were out of the city, but Select Councilman John Upperman simply declined to attend. This is the way public business is attended to, or rather the way it is not attended to. The investigation being merely in the interest of the public health is of no consequence to certain councilmen, but is held up in the same manner as filtration. There are members of councils who show continuous active interest in the affairs of the city, and they are deserving of all honor for doing so. There are others, we are sorry to say, who can hardly be dragged out to attend meetings unless they have a private personal interest in the matters to be acted upon. Irrespective of faction and party the voters are marking these two classes of councilmen, the one for re-election and the other for the retirement they so richly deserve.

Recent advances in the price of crude petroleum, three cents yesterday and three cents a few days ago, do not mean that an oil famine is imminent. They mean, simply, that high grade petroleum is appreciating in value to those who buy it, and that supply is not quite equal to demand. The oil fields of Texas, California and Kansas have little bearing on the problem. They are essentially fuel oils on an asphaltum base. Pennsylvania oil—including New York, West Virginia and Eastern Ohio—are on a paraffine base. The oils of Western Ohio and Indiana differentiate into "North Lima" and "South Lima" because the former contains appreciable paraffine and the latter less. Wyoming is the only undeveloped field on a paraffine base, that is North Wyoming, for the southwestern fields are asphalt. The supply of this high grade oil is limited and higher prices are already needed to stimulate its production. The prospects for further advances depend upon the possible success of the "wildcatter" in areas that are yearly becoming more contracted.

Restoring Party Responsibility.

There is need for a new philosophical dictionary to give correct definitions of political terms. According to opponents of the Republican party it is all right for opposition parties to bargain for the distribution of the offices and to put up a ticket representing the deal, but conferences between factions of the same party, with a view to reconciling differences and reuniting the party, are all wrong and smack of corruption. The conferences are denounced as political deals and there are hysterical protests that the voters will have to take vengeance at the polls, but the same critics see nothing wrong in the deals of fusion politics to which Republican party reunion will put an end. Fusion means government by deals instead of party government, and Republican reorganization means the resumption of party responsibility for the conduct of government.

There are times when a fusion movement is justifiable, but the service it performs is purely negative. It can break down, but cannot build up. It is a good club, but a poor tool. The old machine was well beaten by that club and deservedly so. The only benefit conferred by the movement was its indirect results in compelling Republican reorganization so as to make the official organization representative of the entire party. The direct results of fusion have been wholly disappointing. It is impossible to point to a single reform accomplished, a single pledge fulfilled. The energies of the fusion party in both cities are employed in staving off by every possible device any movement to redeem the pledges made to the voters, and the Republican party, although defeated in the last election, is the only party making any attempt to redeem election pledges. Demoralization of public service and general inefficiency of government are the tangible results of the fusion movement, and they are the natural and inevitable results of the dissolution of all party responsibility.

It is to end this state of affairs that Republicans are getting together, and they propose to guarantee the fulfillment of election pledges by party responsibility. If the party repudiates its pledges it will invite and deserve defeat, but it never incurred just reproach on that score. The old machine inspired revolt by its narrow and exclusive policy, but it always carried out its promises to the people as regards administrative measures. It may not have been responsive to reform sentiment, but so far as it did respond it made good. The organization is now so constituted that it will be fairly responsive to Republican sentiment and may be depended upon as an instrument to carry into effect the will of the people.

Error Upon Error.

Taking cognizance of an illustrated article upon East Brady in The Gazette of last Sunday and an editorial in The Gazette the day following, the Review of that town falls more deeply into error than others who have been mixing Pittsburgh bridge raising with Allegheny river improvement. The Review says:

> In an editorial on the industrial boom at East Brady and vicinity in The Pittsburgh Gazette of Monday the writer of the article labors to show that the people of East Brady, in common with other denizens of the Allegheny valley, and the River Improvement association, in their endeavor to secure slackwater on the Allegheny are making a mistake in advocating the raising of obstructing bridges across the mouth of the river. It is The Gazette, not the people of the valley and the River association, that is in error. The Gazette knows or should know that the raising of these bridges is essential and prerequisite to the further improvement of the Allegheny, for the reason that the national government has refused to allow any more appropriations for locks and dams on the river until these bridges are raised sufficiently to allow boats of modern design and construction to pass under them.

Further along the Review asserts that The Gazette is not disinterested in this matter, but has a private interest in the stock of one or more of the bridges. The Review is wrong. We do not believe it deliberately misstates the case, but that it has been misled by a malicious propaganda that has been worked in all of the Allegheny river towns in the interest of the bridge raising clique. The Review is wrong in its assertion of private interest on the part of The Gazette; it is wrong in saying the raising of the Pittsburgh bridges is essential and prerequisite to the further improvement of the river, and it is absolutely wrong in saying the government "has refused to allow any more appropriations for locks and dams on the river until these bridges are raised." The government has refused nothing. The only foundation for such an assertion is the fact that Chairman Burton of the rivers and harbors committee, seeking an excuse to put off the Allegheny river men, declared here in Pittsburgh that there was no sense in appropriating more money to that river while the bridges obstructed it. Mr. Burton hoped that would end the matter, but it didn't. Prior to that remark Mr. Burton had been told, in answer to his questions, by a well-known river man that money spent on the Allegheny would be money thrown away; that the possible development of traffic on the stream would "not pay for oiling the lock hinges," and that ice and drift would batter down the dams. In order to avoid quoting that river man, Mr. Burton turned his ill-considered remark about the bridges.

The comedy of errors has followed. The Allegheny River Improvement association and the misguided people of the Allegheny valley instead of proving the traffic possibilities of the Allegheny river and its right to government appropriations have turned their guns upon the bridges at Pittsburgh, which serve to carry the tremendous traffic of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, as well as an enormous through traffic between the east and west. The mayors and councils of these two cities and the chamber of commerce have officially protested against putting a handicap upon this traffic across the river, because the proposed bridge raising would cripple every business interest in the two cities and many besides, in addition to inflicting severe loss upon owners of property in the affected district. Chairman Burton never dreamed the bridges might be raised, or he would have hung his excuse upon something else.

There is no danger of the bridges here, or at East Brady, impeding navigation on the Allegheny. The Gazette has published the data in full. The Review may have missed the facts. In order that it shall not remain in ignorance we will repeat to some extent. The average height of boats plying on the Monongahela river is 28 feet. The height of the Sixth street bridge is a little more than 41 feet. This would give passage to a Monongahela boat when the water is at a stage of 13 feet. Many of the Monongahela pool boats are only 26 feet above the water line. They could pass on 15 feet of water. The most modern craft, represented by the James Rumsey and S. B. Goucher, are only 22 feet above the water line. These could pass easily on 18 feet of water. Capt. Harry B. Hulings, who has navigated the Allegheny river for 30 years, has testified that it is not safe to take any steamboat out in the Allegheny river when the stage of water is above 14 feet. Other captains with fewer years of experience corroborate his testimony. Fourteen plus 26 amounts to 40, leaving one foot of clearance. Examination of the weather bureau reports for nine years show the average interference with the passage of boats 28 feet high has been less than five days each year. The Monongahela limit of navigation is somewhat less than 17 feet, as at that stage the river overflows the lock walls. The average interference with navigation on that river from the cause named is about the same as the interference of the bridges on the Allegheny. With the modern craft there would be NO interference by the bridges.

The Herrs island dam, above the much talked about bridges, is now in operation and considerable traffic is moving on the river. The editor of the East Brady Review should come down and see how easily it passes under the bridges he thinks should be raised. He might come to the formal celebration of the completion of that work, and we venture to say if the committee on arrangements will include a steamboat parade in their plans for that occasion he will witness the spectacle of all the boats that handle the immense traffic of the Monongahela river steaming comfortably under the Allegheny river bridges, with clearance to spare. We ask nothing of the Review but to be fair and to write what it knows of its own knowledge. It ought not to say anything it cannot prove, and we know it cannot prove one of its assertions in the article referred to. It has—mistakenly we believe—misinformed its readers. If it desires to give them the truth it will take an early opportunity to retract statements which do it no credit and state the facts.

The Plain Question.

An advocate of the alum water method of filtration plunged into a discussion of the matter yesterday with the charge that one contemporary belittles the expense of sand filtration, and that The Gazette attributes all deaths from typhoid to the delay in providing that system. The statement is not quite accurate, though it is about as near the truth as the advocate of alum water ever gets, and it suggests an adequate reply. The Gazette has exhibited the mortality statistics of cities where the water is filtered and where it is not, and has freely admitted that an inconsiderable percentage of typhoid is from other sources than the water supply, but it is fully justified in charging a vast majority of typhoid deaths and cases upon the unfiltered water.

Now as to the cost. The people of Pittsburgh know by sad experience what it costs to have a supply of polluted water. Few homes have escaped the dread typhoid fever, almost 10 times more fatal than smallpox and more expensive in the matter of medical attendance, nursing and loss of time from daily avocations. What cost in dollars and cents for the prevention of this woe, suffering and loss can justify delay? Not 10 times the exaggerated estimates made by the subcommittee on filtration. No cost that has been even tentatively considered should be allowed to stand in the way of an effective preventive of the awful slaughter that is going on.

The alum water advocate says there is a big job in sand filtration. It fails to specify where or in what amount. There is a job in the alum water plan. The character and amount have been specified. Assuming that there is a job in each it would still be the part of wisdom to select that one which will give best results. But there need be no job in sand filtration. The site has been procured. What is left to do is a matter of construction, to be performed by contract, let to the lowest bidder in open competition. Construction costs have advanced while the holdup has operated, but it is quite certain the work can be done for less than the amount of funds on hand voted for that purpose and no other. It is not a question of jobbery, but a question of adopting the best means to secure the public health, and the council meeting next Monday should accomplish something.

Last Effort for Silver.

How completely the silver question has ceased to be of any moment in the United States appears in the absolute lack of interest in this country concerning the efforts of the joint commission of the United States and Mexico to enlist foreign interest in the Mexican proposition to establish an international ratio for the coinage of silver. Indeed, we doubt very much whether one person in a thousand is aware that such a commission is in existence. But that there is a commission and that it is at work is an indisputable fact. Mexico, which hesitates to adopt a gold standard, though it makes its bonds payable in gold, has a vital interest in the success of the labors of the commission. The United States is joined with Mexico in the effort as a mere act of friendship. When the proposition came from Mexico that a commission from the United States be joined with a commission from Mexico to propose an international coinage ratio to Europe there was complete popular indifference to it. The government would have been justified in declining to associate itself with Mexico because of this lack of national interest and because of the almost certain prospect that Europe would not be found in a mood to take the matter up. But as it was felt that no harm could come of it, and it was desirable to show Mexico that the United States is willing to do that sister republic all the good possible, it was deemed wise to appoint commissioners to accompany those from Mexico to sound the governments of the old world. This was done, and the latest news is that Europe has not been found willing to bind itself in any way. It is satisfied with present conditions. From Berlin it is stated that all expressions of opinion are to the effect that the proposals are impracticable; that the notion of fixing a ratio of exchange between gold and silver countries is merely a pious wish; and "a trustworthy German source" has it that the British and French governments flatly refuse to bind themselves to the purchase of a fixed amount of silver for Indian and colonial coinage.

It is natural that there should be a disposition at the first to oppose any change of conditions to which the markets of the world have conformed themselves, and time only can tell whether there will be different second thoughts. It is not probable, however, that there will be. The experience with silver of those nations which have discarded it as a standard of values is hardly such as to induce them to favorably consider the establishment of an international double standard. The world is not likely to attempt to meet Mexico and China half way. They probably will have to subordinate their wishes to the wisdom and experience of the majority.

When City Bacteriologist Matson announces that he has noticed that typhoid fever in Pittsburgh "comes in waves," it is only natural that he should declare, as he does, that filtration is the proper remedy for it.

AMERICAN WIT AND HUMOR.

American wit and eloquence has a high reputation in England owing to the ability of our representatives in that country. The addresses made by the American speakers at the Fourth of July dinner of the American society in London will enhance that reputation.

In reply to a toast to the American ambassador, Mr. Choate said there was no need for him to speak of the Stars and Stripes, for they were floating all over London that day, and spoke for themselves. Should he talk about the American eagle? ("No, no," and laughter.) He had rather exhausted himself upon him in the ten previous addresses which he had delivered; besides, the American eagle was not a first-class dinner bird. (Laughter.) As compared with their other great national fowls—the Rhode Island turkey, the canvas-back duck, and the Maryland terrapin—he was very poor eating, indeed. Mr. Justice Grentham would bear him out in saying that the British lion tried him twice and did not like him at all. (Laughter.)

Senator Depew, who was present, was called upon, and in the course of his remarks got off the following story, which we take from the London Times' report:

> Becoming a world power had had a peculiar effect on that dear old lady, Miss Columbia. (Laughter.) She was 127 years old, but she was the youngest and most fascinating creature that there was "on this footstool." Nobody cared for her among the powers five years ago, but now they were all courting her, and it had set her up a little. (Laughter.) It was started by an English minister stating in the house of commons that, when all Europe seemed likely to unite against them in their Spanish trouble, Great Britain alone said, "No. No union against America, and if union, then Great Britain stands beside the United States." He could tell them that that made Columbia's heart jump. (Laughter and cheers.) Russia said, "We cannot stand this," and so they said through their ambassador, "Did we not send a fleet over during your civil war?" Miss Columbia picked a flower from her bouquet and said "Yes." (Laughter.) And then France said, "Did we not help you with our Rochambeaus and our Lafayettes and all that?" and Miss Columbia talked with France. (Laughter.) And Germany said, "We cannot stand this," and so that modern, up-to-date and most enlightened of rulers, the kaiser, sent over that fascinating sailor, and Miss Columbia had the time of her life. (Laughter.) But when they were all gone she bid me bring to John Bull this message: "I cannot marry you, John, but I will be a sister to you." (Loud laughter and cheers.)

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

Gee-whiz-z-z!!!

"If purple walls and red-tinted windows surrounded you for a month, with no color but purple around you, by the end of that time you would be a madman. No matter how strong the brain might be it would not stand the strain, and it is doubtful if you would ever recover your reason, for purple is the most dangerous color there is in its effects on the brain, which it reaches by way of the nerves of the eye."

Is it any wonder the wearer of purple and fine linen of olden time became lunny?

If you will take the trouble to read up on Nebuchadnezzar, Xerxes and some of those notorious Persian rulers, you will probably conclude that more than half of them were crazy.

And you may notice as you read along that purple was their favorite color, which clears up the mystery of their madness.

What a pity their wise men hadn't got onto this color poison. It would have been money in their pockets, for some of those big monarchs had barrels and barrels of the stuff, and would have paid handsomely to have been relieved of the malady which was rendering them weak and worthless.

But that's what they got for being ignorant. Nor did they know about the microbe. Even with the case of Herod upon them, in which the microbes had grown so large that they ate holes in his hide, and crawled around like maggots.

Who knows but maggots are only microbes a little larger grown—mammoth microbes?

* * * * *

There are a few royal families on the earth at the present time that might profit by this discovery, for if some of the rulers are not crazy they are heading that way, and getting there all right.

Anyway, that ought to put purple on the brain as a fashionable color.

Next to purple comes scarlet as a royal color, but the same authority says it is worse—the worst ever. Here it is in his own words:

"Scarlet is as bad as purple, but acts differently. It provides what is called homicidal mania—a madness that drives its victim to kill his fellows, especially his nearest relatives. Even on animals scarlet has this effect. It will drive a bull or a tiger to charge a naked spear. But purple, on the contrary, brings on melancholy or suicidal mania."

Why didn't they think of the effects it would have on restless, reckless, ambitious men when it would make mild-mannered, kindly-disposed animals fighting mad?

The white men must have known there was something in red and scarlet that stirred up bad blood and set people to killing each other, and even themselves, for they made Mars the war planet because of its red color.

How slow some people are to make good use of their knowledge. They seem to know what is what—they do know—and yet they go right straight on to the bad. After arriving there safely they turn around and say they know it all the time.

We are a funny lot, don't you think?

* * * * *

Maybe you think you can fall back on blue, since the sky is blue, and the ocean, too, when it is not sea green. But there is no safety there, for this same authority goes on to say:

"If you are saturated with blue, and can't get away, it is terrible. Scientists class blue as a kind of drug in its effect on the brain. It excites the imagination and gives a craving for music and stagecraft, but it has a reaction that wrecks the nerves. If you doubt it, stare hard for a few minutes at a large sheet of bright blue paper or cloth—not flowers, for there is a good deal of green in their blue—and you will find that it will make your eyes ache and give you a restless, uneasy feeling."

Will this account for the blues that you get once in awhile? Blues are held by those who never have them to be purely imaginary. And you may have noticed when you had them that you felt a strong inclination to go on the stage. Emotional actors are subject to fits of the blues, and so are sentimental poets, and others.

Blues are the real thing. It used to be said that hysteria was not a real disorder of the nervous system, but of late years it has been admitted by the best medical authorities to be a true and distinct disease, and one that is not easily remedied.

So where are we at? Is there no place between the deep blue sky and the deep blue sea, and out of sight of the red sunset and purple dawn where one may live and keep his senses?

* * * * *

But what is the matter with yellow?

O, yellow is all right, for weaklings and some breeds of dogs.

Here is what our authority has to say of this common color:

"Solitary confinement in a yellow cell for six weeks will hopelessly weaken any system and produce chronic hysteria. A long course of it will produce foolish lunacy, and even on a guinea pig or a rabbit will drive the animal at last to bite and wound itself or reduce it to such a state of nervousness that it will die of sheer fright if suddenly startled. On the other hand, if you are not smothered with it yellow is the healthiest, cheerfest color there is, and will make a dark room bright and habitable when even green would be cold and depressing. But to be well 'soused' with yellow day and night, and to be unable to get away from it, would bring you to nervous madness within two months of the outside."

Now, there we are. Go where you will you are in danger of going crazy.

Is it any wonder that so many are troubled with foolish lunacy? This prevalent idiosyncrasy has long puzzled scientists of all sorts, but now that the cause, or possible cause, is known, some of our smart ones may discover a sure cure for it. Of course, the microbe sharp will dash up the specific germ, and then we will be in a worse fix than ever.

Now, there is yellow journalism, a sort of foolish lunacy; and the yellow races, which are credited with being generally foolish, and sometimes troubled with lunacy more or less marked.

And there is yellow janders—but the list is too long to print.

* * * * *

Is there not somewhere some color under which we may live and flourish and be happy? Sure! Our authority comes to the rescue. Hear him:

"Green is the king of colors, and no amount of it can do any harm. On the contrary, it soothes the whole system and preserves the eyesight. If you were shut up in an artificial green light for a month it would develop your eyesight immensely, but it would be fatal, because when you returned to the world you would be utterly unable to stand ordinary lights and colors and you would certainly contract ophthalmia, or possibly destroy the optic nerve altogether unless you were very mindful to take great care.

"Most people imagine the sky is clear weather to be blue. It is really white tinged with green. It is only the distance and clearness which make it seem blue."

"Green is so soothing that it makes a big difference to the length of an illness, helping the system to fight the disease, and nearly all hospital wards have every possible detail about them colored green. Sage green is the most soothing tint of all; metallic green, however, is by no means so good."

Of course, you are thinking of the Irish, the Emerald Isle, and the old green sod. And there is something to think about, too. There are the yellow and green flags over there, and wherever Irishmen congregate.

And when you come to think about it the Irish are not greatly troubled with mental depression, suicidal mania, the blues, or anything like some other people on the face of the earth. And they are easily satisfied, but not easily discouraged.

As Daddy Dolin used to say: "Ye kin bate the Dutch, but ye kin niver down the Irish."

Democratic View of Bryan.

Mr. Bryan is growing more and more tiresome. His pretense that the Democratic party was beaten in 1896 and 1900 on account of President Cleveland's unpopularity is a little more foolish than most of the things he is saying. The Democratic party was beaten in both those years because William Jennings Bryan was its candidate, and he had injected a quantity of Populistic rubbish into the party platform. He not only attacked the integrity of the currency and prescribed an idiotic remedy for hard times and low prices for wheat, but he attacked invested capital and even the supreme court. After a man has been defeated twice for the presidency good taste demands that he should retire from politics and keep still. His explanations of his failures are likely to be absurd, and in the case of Mr. Bryan they are worse than childish.—Philadelphia Record.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 23.—Paterson, N. J., has not the best of reputation in the world. Whether it deserves all that has been said about it or the inquiring glances shot at it by moralists is beside the question. Patersonians will tell you that their little city is no worse than any other of the kind and will call attention to the fact that a vice president of the United States was one of its distinguished citizens not long ago. That Paterson has suffered a series of disasters which might be looked upon as retributory is history now. It is also known to all the world that there are or were many anarchists in its limits and that one of the worst crimes of its kind of this generation was committed when poor Jennie Boschleter was done to death two years ago. That the authorities of the city do not feel too sure of the good intent of people who are there now is proved by their placing the whole place under special police guard. It is doubtless true that many of the rascals who are trying to loot houses in the district devastated by last night's cyclone are from New York and other places, while a large number of them may be "yeggs" pure and simple. The police authorities of Paterson do not care to discriminate as to this, and if anyone is caught behaving suspiciously he will find himself in a cell in short order. Mayor Hinchliffe, a man of force and prompt action, is in general charge of things in Paterson and he will not stand any nonsense.

What Hit Paterson?

It is an interesting question here to decide whether last night's blow in Paterson was a cyclone or a tornado. There is a distinction, although not much difference so far as effects are concerned. A cyclone is a whirlwind, and, according to some dictionaries, so is a tornado. The man who likes to have things strictly correct insists that the Paterson visitation was a cyclone, with some attributes of the tornado, and he calls it a "cyclone tornado."

Isles of Safety Become Dangerous.

There is money for the man who hits on some arrangement which will keep pedestrians out of the way of horses and vehicles on the crowded crossings of Manhattan. It is to be feared that the expression "isle of safety" will never be taken seriously in this city again. The "grindstones" over which people, horses and policemen stumbled for two nights this week and which were then removed, were spoken of as "isles of safety," and they were so absurdly ineffectual that the very name applied to them is regarded as ridiculous. Still the idea of having a space in the middle of a wide and much-traveled roadway is sensible enough. Such spaces, raised above the level of the surrounding road and furnished with posts to keep traffic off, with a good strong light above the heads of the people, are to be found in all the important cities of Europe, where they have been used for a century. But New York wants something different, it seems, and there is a great chance for a man with some new and feasible idea along this line.

Paterson Needs Cyclone Cellars.

Paterson sends a wireless message to the New York city hall: "Get isles of safety for yourselves, if you like. What Paterson is willing to contract for is a supply of reliable cyclone cellars."

Arbuckle Makes Himself Popular.

It is insistently declared by about 1,200 women and children of the congested districts of Brooklyn that the excursion given yesterday by Mr. John Arbuckle, the coffee king of Pittsburgh and New York, was the greatest treat they ever had or expect to have. Mr. Arbuckle paid for everything, and a princely sum he had to spend. The guests soon became hungry as they sailed down New York bay, with the fresh winds from the Atlantic cooling their cheeks and blowing their ribbons and light summer frocks about gloriously. There was a regular dinner, served by a colored chef, who looked as if his ancestors might have been kings in Africa, and it was a meal that would have cost at least half a dollar in any restaurant in New York. To prevent the women feeling that they were accepting charity a nominal charge of five cents a meal was made, but it was not collected in many instances. Mr. Arbuckle said today that he enjoyed this excursion every summer more than any of the yachting trips he had with his friends, and he looked as if he meant just what he said.

Devery's Appellation Sticks.

Louis F. Haffen, president of the borough of the Bronx, whom "Big Bill" Devery once referred to as a "joke," is seriously mentioned as the Democratic candidate for mayor. Mr. Haffen is a good citizen and very prominent in his borough, but it is to be feared he never will live down Devery's contemptuous appellation.

Litigation Nearing an End.

Another step in the settlement of Laura Biggar's claim against the estate of the late Henry M. Bennett has just been taken. A quit claim to real estate in several thoroughfares on the East and West Sides of Manhattan owned by Mr. Bennett has just been recorded as executed by Laura M. Bennett or Laura Biggar, in favor of Peter J. McNulty and others. Evidently the litigation over the property of the Pittsburgh millionaire is not likely to last much longer.

Rockefeller and the Baptist Church.

John D. Rockefeller takes a great deal of interest in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church of this city, in whose Sunday school Mr. Rockefeller's son is so earnest a worker. Mr. Rockefeller himself is a member of the church. It is rumored that he has bought three four-story dwellings in West Forty-fifth street with the intention of using their sites for an extension to the church.

Making Way for New Bridge.

The new Williamsburg bridge over the East river, which is so near completion that the city has got to see how people will get to and from the structure, has resulted in a general clearing out of old houses on the Manhattan side. Already there is a large fish market on a spot where there used to be many tenements, and now a lot more houses are to be swept away to make room for a bridge approach. Ninety-seven pieces of property, which cost in the aggregate $600,000, were today sold at auction for $8,775. When the city has acquired 41 more parcels, which will be accomplished by the 6th of August, it will have all it needs for the bridge, and the rest of it will be a matter for the contractors who are hustling to get it finished.

Answers to Correspondents.

F. J. M., City—The matter of your friend returning to England under the circumstances is one that should receive careful consideration. Our advice is to consult an able attorney and be guided by his opinion. We do not know the house address of the British statesman.

Bellevue—The life of a copyright is 28 years, with the privilege of renewal for 14 years.

Edward in Ireland.

It is not surprising to hear that the king and queen of England, who have gone on a visit to Ireland, which has been for a long time under contemplation, received an enthusiastic welcome upon their entrance into the Irish capital. It was certain that they would. The heated discussions which have taken place in the Dublin city council as to the presentation of an address cannot be regarded as expressing the sentiment of the people. They represent in part the maneuvers of rival politicians, and in other parts they reflect the animosities of a small body of irreconcilables to whom anything English is anathema, and who even regret the impending passage of the Irish land bill because it promises to establish a peace wherein their occupation will be gone.

Whether the mayor in his official capacity does or does not inflict an address upon the visiting royalty is a matter of very little moment, and one which it may be supposed that the king himself regards with a supreme indifference. The appeal which Edward is making is not to the Irish politicians who are at the front in the government of Dublin. It is to the Irish people, and there is ample reason why the response should be prompt and hearty.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

King Edward's visit to Ireland was happily timed. On the day he landed the house of commons put the Irish land bill through its third reading by an overwhelming majority. This is the longest step which the British government has ever taken toward a solution of the troubles afflicting Ireland. It has its faults as a measure and it does not wholly meet the views of the Irish leaders, but it is significant that in the final debate last night John Redmond, who heads the Irish members, expressed his general satisfaction with the bill and congratulated the government on its undertaking.

The king's visit was by a chance given especial significance in view of the death of the pope. With his characteristic tactfulness on such occasions Edward spoke a few words expressive of his personal grief at the death of the head of the Catholic church, and gave his remarks point by referring to his own recent visit to Rome and his interview with Leo XIII. The news reports say that these words went far toward creating a favorable impression among even those classes that opposed the extension of a royal welcome to the king upon his arrival.—Washington Star.

The warmth of King Edward's welcome by the people of Dublin more than made up for the slight put upon him by the municipal body. Evidently the Irish people as a whole recognize the sincerity of the king's desire to promote peace between the two kingdoms nominally "united" under his sovereignty. They are aware, of course, of the strong and effective pressure exerted by the king upon the great Irish landlords who threatened to block the Irish land bill in the upper chamber.

Now that the bill has become law, in a shape satisfactory to the great body of the Irish party in parliament, the king is justified in saying, as he did at Kingston, that "a new era is opening for Ireland." The British government is by this law committed to the wholesale transfer by purchase of the soil of the island from a few large proprietors to the many small farmers who actually occupy and cultivate it. And that will certainly result in the creation of a new, more prosperous and hence more contented Ireland.—New York World.

The reception accorded King Edward in Ireland will be noted with considerable interest by Americans. That the British king, ever since he ascended the throne, has done his best to cultivate the friendship of his subjects in Ireland is quite apparent. His efforts in behalf of the much-talked-of land bill were considerable, and unless popular opinion in London is mistaken, that measure might never have been presented to the consideration of the British parliament had it not been for the warm support given it by the British monarch.

With the passage of the land bill it is believed by persons in a position to know that the relations between England and Ireland, with the chief cause of hatred of Britain in the latter country removed, will rapidly improve. Already the attitude of the Nationalist members of the house of commons indicates an increasing willingness of educated Irishmen to put faith in the willingness and ability of the England of today to deal fairly with Ireland.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The visit of King Edward and Queen Alexandra to Ireland is a royal journey that ranks in interest with any of the numerous events of that character which have taken place recently. The king could not have chosen a more opportune time to greet his subjects across the Irish seas than at present, when plans for the improvement of industrial conditions in Ireland through the passage of the Irish land bill are nearing fruition.

Despite the recent ungracious refusal of the municipal authorities at Dublin to join in formal welcome to the visiting sovereigns, the reception accorded the royal entourage is a cordial one. If there are any incidents to mar the occasion they will not meet with popular approval. It is naturally expected that the events of the week will emphasize the fact that a new era of good feeling has begun.—Baltimore Herald.

\+ \+ \+ \+

King Edward, who is known to have taken an active and influential part in shaping the events and policies that have led to the assured passage of the Irish land purchase act, has an ambition—an honorable one, surely, to signalize his reign by contributing effectively to the ending of the long centuries of misunderstanding and of bitter race and religious hatred between the English and the Irish people. The old order of things has really seemed to be passing away of late and a new era of prosperity and happiness dawning for Ireland through the promise that the Irish people shall own Irish land. King Edward and the queen go to Ireland for a fortnight's holiday-making as a sign and seal of their hearty good will and their sincere good wishes for the welfare of their Irish subjects.—Buffalo Commercial.

Delaware is a small state, but the sort of thing that is going on inside of it now concerns the entire country, and has all the dimensions and importance of a national issue, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. BISHOP CANEVIN WILL CELEBRATE THE MASS

It Is Not Expected That Bishop Phelan's Health Will Permit Him to Be at Epiphany Church This Morning.

Bishop Phelan will not celebrate the requiem mass for the pope today. Until late last night the bishop had not returned from St. Paul's orphan asylum in Idlewood, where he is spending the summer. The bishop's hearth received a setback on Wednesday, and his advisers thought that he ought not to undergo the fatigue of celebrating the mass, especially as the service will be held in the basement of the uncompleted church, where the ceiling is low and where an enormous crowd is expected.

The mass will be celebrated by Bishop Canevin. Father Vincent Huber, who will be the panegyrist, preaching the sermon at today's mass, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday. He will return to St. Vincent's monastery at Beatty this evening and will soon go to Denver, where he is to establish a new college. A pontifical requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Vincent's monastery this morning. The abbot will be the celebrant and 50 priests will take part in the services.

Many priests from other churches in the Pittsburgh diocese will attend the requiem mass in Epiphany church this morning. In some of the churches a requiem mass for the dead pope has been sung, but on account of engagements for nuptial masses and masses for the dead, it is likely that all the churches will not have had their special mass for the pope until the pontiff has been buried.

Today's pontifical requiem will be an elaborate ceremonial. The services will begin at 9 a. m. with the offices of the dead, performed by the bishop and priests. Then the mass will begin, the celebrating bishop and his assistants being robed in black. After the mass the bishop and his attendants will surround the catafalque, the last absolution will be pronounced and the cathedral choir will sing the "Libera Me, Domine!"

FAST EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED AT DEMMLER

Side-Wipes a Work Train in McKeesport and Both Are Badly Smashed—Several Passengers Were Slightly Injured.

While running at the rate of 35 miles an hour the Fairmont express, one of the fastest trains on the Baltimore & Ohio, side-swiped a work train at Demmler station, McKeesport, at 5:20 o'clock last evening, and was wrecked. The express was made up of six passenger coaches and carried about 75 people. The express engineer, John Davis, and his fireman, E. J. Carter, were badly bruised in the smashup. Many of the passengers received slight injuries, but were able to continue their journey.

The express left Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock and was due at Fairmont at 9:40. The express was on schedule time and the blame for the accident is placed on those having charge of the gravel train. The wreckage was scattered over both tracks on the main line, and for over three hours the line at Demmler was blocked. All Baltimore & Ohio trains for several hours had to go over the crossing at Dexter station, the station next to Port Perry, and use the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie tracks to get around the wreck.

A short distance west of Demmler station there is a sharp curve on the main line, and when the express engine went around the curve the engineer and fireman discovered the dirt train directly in their path. After throwing on the brakes both engineer and fireman jumped back into the tender for safety. When the big express engine struck the work train it leaped into the air and dragged two of the coaches with it on top of the dirt cars and crushed them almost to splinters. The express engine was smashed almost beyond repair.

The tracks and roadbed were torn up for a considerable distance. Several men sitting in the smoking car were the worst hurt among the passengers.

"PE-RU-NA AFFORDED IMMEDIATE RELIEF"

Writes COUNTY AUDITOR MINOR.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Pe-ru-na Endorsed as a Cure for Catarrh by Prominent Men.

Hon. C. J. Minor, County Auditor for Hennepin Co., in a letter from Minneapolis, Minn., says:

"I am pleased to say that Peruna is the best remedy I have tried for catarrh. It afforded me immediate relief and I shall always be a friend of your famous remedy."—C. J. Minor.

A U. S. Senator's Letter.

Hon. John J. Patterson, Ex-United States Senator from Pennsylvania, in a letter from 37-a Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"As quite a number of my friends have and are using Peruna as a catarrh cure with beneficial results, I feel that I can safely recommend it to those suffering from that disorder."

Peruna has cured more cases of catarrh than all the other remedies combined.

Men of Prominence Do Not Hesitate to Endorse Pe-ru-na.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true today of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low station that no one hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The highest men in our nation have given Peruna's strong endorsement. Men of all classes and stations are equally represented.

They have no hesitation in lending their influence to assist in letting the people know of the virtues of Peruna.

B. & B.

This July Shelf Emptying Sale is to be the most complete ever this store made—and the most radical prices of the month are now fixed.

We won't carry goods over—make prices move them—no difference how low that price.

If we didn't move the surplus lots and slow sellers—when we carry as large assortments as we do—we would soon find the shelves loaded up.

We sell out every season—and get new, fresh things.

Today—broken lines and surplus lots out with prices on that will prove and carry out just what's stated above.

If you want to get any useful or pretty things for less than you ever got them, then come today or tomorrow forenoon as store closes 1 o'clock Saturday.

5000 yards more—no two pieces alike—D. and J. Anderson's 40 and 45 cent Madras and novelties put out at 15c—some neat, others elaborate, stylish things and extreme color combinations—ridiculous price for fine goods—but we sell and carry out just what the advertisement says.

Medium and fine Wash Goods and White Goods, 5, 7½, 10, 15 to 25c—largest assortment of goods and pretty kinds now being sold out for little prices—than we ever had to do heretofore.

Season was against wash goods—but one extreme always follows another—and we'll get it hot yet—so there will be use for them yet.

But we've got to sell now—can't do it in October when we're selling Fall goods.

Fine Paris Dress Goods and Woolens, 25, 50, 75 and $1.00—offer as great opportunities as Wash Goods sections do.

OHIO GAS COMPANIES ADVANCE RETAIL PRICES

Federal Company May Change Hands—Columbus Councils to Investigate Raise.

In order to advance the retail price of gas from 15 to 25 cents a thousand feet, the Federal Gas Company may be taken over by the Central Ohio National Gas and Fuel Company, which yesterday, at Columbus, announced an advance in price from 20 to 25 cents a thousand. The Federal company is now controlled by the Ohio Fuel Supply Company of Pittsburgh and there is said to be an understanding between the latter concern and the Central Ohio company whereby the Federal may evade a requirement in its franchise which says that it must sell gas at 15 cents.

The city council of Columbus has taken the matter up with a view of investigating the conditions and if possible prosecuting the two companies under the Ohio anti-trust law, if any evidence of violation of the act can be secured. The advance in price will not affect the Pittsburgh district. The Pittsburgh company has offices in the Farmers bank building.

Tube Works Plans Not Changed.

There will be no changes in the original plans of the United States Steel Corporation for the new tube works at McKeesport and improvements at Lorain, W. B. Schiller, president of the National Tube Company, said yesterday: "We have no intention of holding up contemplated improvements at Lorain. The new plant there will be hurried to completion, while the improvements at McKeesport are well under way. We will not erect additions at Lorain that were projected for McKeesport, and work will progress as outlined in the program of the United States Steel Corporation."

CYCLONE KIRKLAND DENIES HIS MARRIAGE

Declares He Is a Candidate for the Presidency, but Not for Matrimony.

There seems to be some mystery about the reported marriage of Dr. James M. Kirkland, chief of the Silent Brotherhood, twice candidate for the presidency of the United States, and once candidate for the governorship of Pennsylvania. Dr. Kirkland after having been in retirement for several days, appeared at his usual haunts last evening. He was congratulated on every side, but he did not take kindly to the many kind words said to him.

"Congratulate me on what? On the fact that I am to be the next president of the United States? Yes, I'll be a candidate again in 1904. Married? Don't believe all the stories you hear. Want to show you my latest photograph. Am having a million copies made. Am going to sell them for a dollar apiece and the money will go toward my campaign fund. Watch Cyclone," and then the doctor relapsed into silence.

What Cyclone will do with his marriage license is a mystery he refuses to solve.

Polish Woman Gave $22 to Alleged Lawyer to Get Husband Out of Jail.

Mrs. Mary Lutiz, a Polish woman of Elizabeth, through an interpreter at the court house yesterday, stated that a man who said he was a lawyer got $22 from her ostensibly to get her husband released from jail. Her husband was sent to jail on a charge of larceny, and when she came to town to get him released a countryman took her to a man who said he would get him out for $20. She gave him the money, also $2, the interpreter's fee, and her husband is still in jail.

That was several days ago, and since then she has wandered about town with her two little children, not having money enough left to get to her home.

Why not go While Rates are Low?
Colorado has more one-day excursion trips that are "worth while" than any other State in the Union, with the possible exception of California.
And they are as unlike as A is unlike B.
Why not go there this summer? Colorado is only a night's ride from Chicago, and the Rock Island offers exceedingly low rate June 1 to September 30. Information on request.

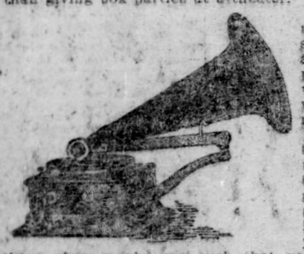
Entertain Your Friends at Home

Entertaining your friends at home with the phonograph is better than giving box parties at a theater.



The phonographs and various makes of talking machines we are selling are the most perfect that are made. The old fashioned phonographs you have heard, the wheezing, indistinct machines in vogue only a short time ago, are not the machines we are selling.

Our phonographs comprise all the latest improvements. They reproduce the living voice so distinctly that you cannot distinguish it from the original. The great orchestras, the famous soloists are brought right home to you. The volume and strength of these phonographs are such that you could easily entertain a large audience. This is frequently done by persons possessing our machines.

SENSIBLE HINT TO PARENTS

Waiters Are Preparing Demands on Hotel Keepers for Higher Wages—Will Give Ten Days' Time to Consider—If Refused They Will Strike.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 23.

Hotelkeepers and proprietors of boarding houses will be confronted with demands for higher wages on or about August 1, and the time allowed for the consideration of the demands will be 10 days. If the reply is not favorable a general strike will be ordered. Organization of the negro help has been going on quietly for the last two weeks. It is contended that the servants, particularly the waiters, do not receive a fair share of the money that comes from the summer visitors. It is expected that the white servants will also be organized, and that they, too, will make demands for increased pay.

The proprietor of one of the beach front hotels said today: "I suppose we will be obliged to concede whatever may be demanded."

Keeping Tab on Children.

The police are having so much trouble with lost children that a suggestion has been made to parents leaving children alone along the beach to have a small shipping tag placed on the child to assist in locating the parents in case the child becomes lost, the tag to contain the name of the child and the address of its parents. Yesterday eight children were at City hall at one time and several more at Young's pier and the fire houses, where they had been taken by the police.

Crowd at the Baby Show.

The second weekly baby show took place on Young's Pier today under the direction of Prof. Willard. An unusually large crowd of people were in attendance and the voting for favorite babies was very spirited. A baby show will be given in Marine hall every Thursday morning during the season under the supervision of Prof. Willard. Entries can be made by application to him at his office on the pier.

Safety Tower Torn Down.

Yesterday witnessed the demolition of the much talked of watch tower for life guards that was being erected by private parties at States avenue and the beach. Under orders of the boardwalk committee of city council, and despite the protest of the owners of the structure, a gang of men under Boardwalk Inspector Fort, tore it down.

Homestead Directors at the Raleigh.

The directors of the Girls' Industrial School at Homestead, Pa., are at the Hotel Raleigh for a stay of several days. In the party are William Bullock, G. V. L. Wackerhan, Louis L. Jones, David Rogers, Robert J. Crare, E. T. Rowse, John L. Bullock, John M. Morris, Harry Haley and T. H. Bogrand.

Contemplated Improvements.

Great changes are contemplated for the Ocean pier for next summer. Nearly $500,000 will be spent in the improvements, if the present plans are carried out. All the buildings will be rebuilt and the pier will be made a steel structure. Capt. John L. Young, the pier owner, is engaged in perfecting the plans which will make his famous pier the finest in the world.

Mrs. W. C. Lilley Dead.

Mrs. Annie Livingstone Lilly, aged 54, wife of William C. Lilly, of Pittsburgh, died yesterday at a prominent uptown hotel. The cause of her demise was general debility. The remains were forwarded to Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgher Rescued.

Walter A. Shuss, of 3720 Boquet street, Pittsburgh, was dragged from the surf at 11:40 this morning by Lifeguards Davis and Doughty. The men had a terrific struggle to land Shuss, as he had gone under water twice before they succeeded in getting the buoy to him.

Clarion Normal School Board Orders Further Investigation of Charges.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLARION, PA., July 23.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Clarion Normal school last evening the finance committee, to which the letter of I. M. Shannon in reference to the alleged bribery case was referred, reported that they were unable to come to an agreement in the matter and asked that the board of trustees take up the matter. The trustees then decided to bring the suit or take the necessary steps to clear up the charges and imputations as set forth in Mr. Shannon's letter to them of July 10. The following motion was made by Secretary J. S. Shirly, seconded by T. L. Ray and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That as the said I. M. Shannon was at the time the money was paid as alleged by him, and is now the treasurer of said school, his statements to the board of trustees, made public through the press of this state, demands some action on the part of the board of trustees therefore.

Resolved, That we hereby authorize the president of the board of trustees to appoint a committee of five members to investigate the charges thoroughly, to the end that if it be true that money has been illegally and fraudulently taken from the treasury of said school that the same be returned thereto, the committee to report at next regular meeting of the board, which will be August 14.

THIEL COLLEGE BOARD FILES ANSWER AT MERCER

Claim Made That School Is Not Obliged to Remain at Greenville.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENVILLE, PA., July 23.—An answer to the bill in equity against the trustees of Thiel college has been filed at Mercer by J. Boyd Duff of Pittsburgh, solicitor for the defendants. The defendants deny most emphatically that the proposed removal of Thiel from Greenville will be in violation of the original act of assembly.

The strongest point made by the defendants is that the citizens of Greenville have not fulfilled their contract with Thiel college. According to them, Greenville was to give five acres of land and $20,000 to the building fund. In the bill the statement is made that something over $21,000 was subscribed but owing to unpaid subscriptions, but $13,507 was really paid. They claim that owing to the nonfulfillment of the contract the trustees are under no obligation to locate the college permanently at Greenville. The case has been assigned to the October term of court.

It is doubtful as to where the fall term of school will convene, the trustees having announced that Greenville will be the place, while President Kuntzman is sending out circulars stating that the school will open in Greensburg in September.

DOCTOR LOST HIS LIFE WHILE RESCUING PATIENT

Son of a Claysville Citizen Perished in the Kansas City Fire.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., July 23.—It has been definitely ascertained that Dr. A. E. Rodgers, son of Frank Rodgers of Claysville, perished in the burning of the Bonners Springs sanitarium near Kansas City, Mo., last Thursday. Dr. Rodgers was steward at the institution and met death while attempting to save the life of an aged and infirm patient.

Mrs. A. A. Cook was confined to her bed and when the flames were discovered Dr. Rodgers rushed to her room, and picking her up in his arms, started for a rear stairway. The flames had enveloped the stairway and he was caught by the blaze.

Dr. Rodgers was 35 years old. He graduated from Bethany college and later from the Cincinnati Medical college. His father and a brother-in-law, M. R. Barr of Washington, went to Bonners Springs last Saturday and returned today, after identifying the portion of the watch belonging to Dr. Rodgers.

WELLSVILLE, O., July 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. O. D. Calhoun, wife of a prominent resident, and her daughter, Mary, 17 years old, were shot and severely injured, by Noah Calhoun, aged 15. The boy was starting for the woods to hunt groundhogs and the mother and sister followed him to the door to warn him to be careful, when in some unaccountable manner his revolver was discharged. The right arm of Mrs. Calhoun first received the bullet. It passed completely through that member and struck her daughter in the breast. Neighbors and physicians found the two women on the floor. The daughter is badly injured, but is expected to recover.

FOUND PROTECTED LOCALITY FOR A POWDER FACTORY

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., July 23.—(Special.)—Pittsburgh capitalists have purchased 230 acres of land at Horrell station, this county, on which they will build a powder factory at a cost of $150,000. The lands are encompassed about with towering ridges and the surrounding country is thus protected from harm in the event of an explosion at the factory. The Crescent dynamite factory in Clover creek, this county, owned by Pittsburgh capitalists, was wrecked by an explosion last April, in which nine lives were lost. The rebuilding of this plant has been tied up indefinitely by an injunction served by the alarmed farmers of the neighborhood.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, PA., July 23.—After having been spanked three times by Chicago and being beaten by Homestead, Pittsburgh continued its losing streak by dropping a game to Altoona at Columbia ball park this afternoon in the presence of 6,138 people, the season's largest attendance. Carpenter's men won by timely hitting and sharp fielding, coupled with the inability of Clarke's crew to straighten out Bennett's benders.

Bennett was in fine fettle and but for Lang's error of Bransfield's easy chance the Pirates would have been shut out after the first inning. The setback may, at critical times, or when sequential hitting would have started run-getting, was as steady as a veteran and disposed of batters with as much ease as though they were minor leaguers.

Pitcher Veil, who has been at Williamsport recuperating, inaugurated the game for the Pirates and was effective until the sixth inning, when he weakened and was bounced off the rubber. "Roaring Bill" Kennedy supplanted him, and after three runs had been scored on his delivery he retired, injured in the right leg in sliding to second base. He will be disabled for a week. Phillippe went in in the ninth and was found for four hits and one run.

The Pirates scored in the initial inning on Wagner's gentle tap over the infield and Leach's two-bagger. Their final scoring was done in the fifth inning on Lang's error of Bransfield's fly, Leach's single, Ritchey being hit by a pitched ball and Kruger's and Kennedy's fly out, Bransfield and Leach tallying.

The locals were blanked until the fourth inning, when Lang drew a base on balls. "Newman!" Smith's one-baser and Veil's wild pitch helping Danny in getting the run. Four more runners crossed the line in the sixth: Hinton walked, Davis and Lang singled, Hinton scoring. Needham doubled and Davis and Lang counted. Bennett's safety scored Needham.

In the seventh inning, with Kennedy pitching, Smith singled and was forced out by Hinton. Lang safeticd to right, Needham singled and Hinton scored, Lang getting home on Phillippe's wild throw to third base. In the ninth Kruger lost Davis' fly in the sun, the Allegheny boy reaching second and counting on Lang's third hit. The score:

THE WIND SHIFTED.

Old Shamrock's First Victory Over New Yacht.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 23.—A fluke and a shift of wind cheated Shamrock III. out of a victory in a drifting race with Shamrock I. off Sandy Hook today, and gave the old boat the first victory she ever had over the new cup challenger.

The boats had drifted about 9 miles of the run before the wind to the turning mark with just enough wind to keep them moving, when Shamrock I.'s sails filled with wind and for 20 minutes she slipped away leaving her sister racer almost becalmed. Beating back to the finish line a shift of wind gave the old boat an advantage.

Victory for Tarentum.

NATRONA, PA., July 23.—(Special.)—Tarentum Y. M. C. A. handily defeated Leechburg on the latter's ground today 8 to 4. The feature of the game were the pitching of Meley and the stick work of Rudolph and Conwell. Leechburg plays at Tarentum Thursday, July 30.

SIGNS WITH CLEVELAND.

Alex. Pearson Accepts Fine Offer from American League.

Alex. Pearson, the clever Homestead pitcher, who let the champion Pirates down with two hits on Wednesday, has been signed by the Cleveland American league club and will join that team today.

Manager Armor of the Cleveland team, on learning of Pearson's clever work against the champions, at once entered into negotiations with him and the offer was such a clever one that the Homestead pitcher could not refuse. Armor, fearing some other club would get in ahead of him, did not depend on the telegraph, but talked with Pearson over the 'phone. The twirler, after the 'phone conference, informed the Homestead people of the offer and they at once consented to his acceptance. The steel town team will feel the loss of the clever pitcher, but Manager Risher has a couple of youngsters in line whom he expects to make good.

CARDINALS ARE HERE.

Donovan Wants a Game or Two from the Pirates.

Patsy Donovan and his Cardinals arrived in the city last night and are in fine shape for a two days' argument with the champions, today and tomorrow.

Donovan says that his team has been playing fine ball for a month, and he expects to make a good showing here. He will use the O'Neill brothers as a battery today and Dunleavy will pitch tomorrow. McFarland, his other winning pitcher, is sick and was left in St. Louis.

Secretary Locke of the Pirates got back from Altoona last night. The champions' defeat is charged to "Bucky" Veil, who has not yet recovered from his sickness. The defeat did not cause as much regret as an accident to Pitcher Kennedy, who in sliding to second struck a piece of glass and will be out of the game several days. He cut an ugly gash on his leg.

THE TENNIS TOURNEY.

Stephens and Hunt Defeated—Miss McAteer Plays Today.

CINCINNATI, July 23.—There were two very exciting and sensational events in today's meeting of the tri-state tennis tourney. The first was when C. P. Hunt and Trux Emerson, local men, played Kreigh Collins and L. H. Waidner, the Chicago champions. It was a smashing game from start to finish, but the Cincinnatians were finally defeated. The other feature event was that between Ernest Diehl and Nat Emerson of Cincinnati, against R. G. Hunt, the California champion, and Dr. Stephens of Pittsburgh. The local man won in five sets. The fourth set lasted nearly 40 minutes, and called fourth rounds of applause from the spectators.

The final round in the men's singles will be played tomorrow morning. The finals in the lady's singles will be played tomorrow between Miss Closterman and Miss McAteer.

AGAINST POOL SELLING.

There Is a Big Fight on at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., July 23.—County Prosecutor Keeler today made application in the circuit court for an injunction against the Cleveland Driving Park Company to enjoin the company selling pools at the race track in Glenville during the grand circuit meet next week. The application will be argued in the circuit court Friday afternoon.

The village of Glenville at its last local election voted against liquor selling and gambling within the village, and pool selling at the grand circuit is alleged to come under the latter designation. Mayor Goff of Glenville is an attorney and a member of one of the most prominent law firms in the city. The Cleveland Driving Park Company has engaged Squire Landers and Dempsey to argue its side of the case.

KID M'COY IN TROUBLE.

Is Charged With Larceny of $5,000 in Bonds.

NEW YORK, July 23.—(Special.)—Norman Selby, better known as "Kid" McCoy, was arraigned today in the Centre street police court on a charge of grand larceny preferred by Louis Thornan. The grand larceny, according to the complaint, consisted in taking and keeping a packages of bonds worth $5,000. It was charged that McCoy took the bonds on promise of selling them, but that he never gave back the bonds or paid for them, but instead bought an automobile.

McCoy's lawyer admitted that McCoy took the bonds, but said that he paid $2,500 for them. He said he had witnesses to prove that, but that the witnesses were out of town. On his motion the case was adjourned until Monday.

HONORS WERE EVEN.

Boston and New York Teams Split Double Header.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Honors were even in the double header here today between Boston and the locals. Both games were close until toward the end, when batting rallies put them beyond doubt. Young clearly outpitched Chesbro in the first contest, while Deering, who made his first appearance in box for the home team, twirled effectively and Hughes. The fielding was for the most part clean and both games were quickly and well played. The scores:

WASSON SECURES ENOUGH SIGNERS

Call for Meeting of Common Council on Monday Goes Out Today.

TYPHOID FEVER CONTINUES

Twenty-One New Cases Were Reported Yesterday—Immense Sums Spent in Other Countries to Secure a Perfectly Pure Water Supply.

Common council meets in special session next Monday night taking up filtration. Councilman Joseph C. Wasson yesterday secured four more members of the lower branch to sign the call, which will be sent out today. It is expected that President C. J. Crawford will be home at that time and will preside.

The members who have signed the call are, B. J. Sheehan, Charles Cavett, Dr. G. W. McNeil, E. G. Swartzwaelder, L. W. Spearer, W. B. Wolfe, J. C. Wasson, J. C. Armstrong, W. H. Stevenson, John Martin, T. M. Brown, John Hogue, Jacob Sorel, Jr., John F. Semmelroek, W. C. Retz, William Brand, A. Martin Barr and J. E. Shaw.

Since the call specifically states the meeting is being convened to consider filtration, there is no chance that the Duquesne way franchise fight will be renewed. The lower branch of councils will be given a chance to demonstrate whether or not they favor better and purer water for their constituents. In addition to President Crawford, Councilman Harry Lamb may also be present.

There may be some difficulty in securing a quorum on Monday night, as many of the members of councils are out of the city and others have made arrangements to start on vacations. The only action council can take at the meeting is the reference of the bond issue to the finance committee and the report of that committee will hardly be ready for councils before the first regular meeting in September.

Meanwhile the epidemic of typhoid fever, said by physicians and bacteriologists to be due to the condition of the water, is increasing steadily, 21 new cases being reported yesterday. The disease seems to be spreading entirely from the water supply. Supt. G. W. Moore of the bureau of health stated yesterday that every sanitary precaution is being taken to prevent contagion from other sources.

In discussing filtration yesterday Dr. E. G. Matson, city bacteriologist, said that in considering sand filtration as the best possible means of obtaining pure drinking water from the rivers, the people should consider other phases of the subject. He said he admired a plan followed in the north of England and in Wales, where water plans that cost sums that would cause even a community of millionaires to wonder at the outlay, are in existence.

Dr. Matson said it is wise to consider that a large outlay in installing the plan would naturally mean the operation of a plant that would require less expense. The water supplies in Wales are taken by immense viaducts from uninhabited regions and are as pure as distilled fluid and more healthful.

PERSONALS

Emil Smithly of Kansas City passed through Pittsburgh yesterday after spending several weeks in New York securing immigrants to go west to assist in harvesting wheat, oats and other cereals. He has been generally successful. Speaking of the harvest, Mr. Smithly said: "The cool weather of May and June retarded the ripening of wheat in western states and the pinch for harvest hands has not yet come. The first grain was cut this week, and from now on the demand for harvest hands will be great. Last year as much as $4 a day was paid to experienced harvesters, and with wheat at its present high price the farmers will not care much what the men demand. In Eastern and Central Nebraska the farm hands' union is strong, and the minimum schedule is $25 a month and board. Nebraska is going to have another big bumper crop this year, both in wheat and corn. The acreage of winter wheat is estimated by the crop experts at more than 2,800,000, which insures a yield of from 60,000,000 to 75,000,000 bushels. The acreage is about 500,000 acres larger than last year. The corn acreage will be about 5,800,000 and that of oats 1,750,000.

D. F. Maroney, general manager of the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern railroad, formerly general superintendent of the Pittsburgh system of the Baltimore & Ohio, with headquarters at St. Marys, Pa., spent yesterday in Pittsburgh on business. Speaking of the road, he said: "Within two months the 50-mile connecting road will be completed and put into operation. This connection will give us tracks from the anthracite coal fields to New York without transferring the cars to foreign roads."

SOCIETY

ABOUT 100 guests attended the wedding of Miss Mary Taggart Mitchell and William Mitchell Whitten, which took place last evening at the home of the bride in Spahr street, East End. The only attendants were four ribbon bearers, Miss Emma Hood, Miss Georgia Lacock, Miss Nellie Marquis and Miss Marie Orr. All in gowns of white mousseline de soie, they preceded the bride and bridegroom into the parlor of the Hare home, where the ceremony was performed. They walked in pairs, each holding a white satin ribbon, and forming an aisle for the bridal couple. The bride was gowned in an exquisite creation of white lace over taffeta. She wore a tulle veil fastened with an aigrette and carried a shower of pink and white roses. The same flowers were carried by the ribbon bearers. The wedding party, entering the parlor to the music of a stringed orchestra, advanced to the large windows of the parlor and the service was read at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Thomas Park, pastor of the Fourth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny. The bride was given away by her father, Robert W. Hare.

Especially dainty decorations characterized the wedding as one of the prettiest home events of the season. The house was decorated throughout, pink and white being the prevailing colors. Pink-shaded chandeliers, festooned with asparagus fern, mantels banked in green and sweet peas tastefully arranged about the parlor, contrasted most becomingly with the finishings of the room. The doorway between this apartment and the dining room was decked in green, as were the other doorways of the home. Daisies entered into the decorative scheme in the dining room, where the mantel was banked. Supper was served on small tables in the dining room. On these were placed pink candelabra, around which wreaths of pink sweet peas gave a most pleasing effect. Mr. Whitten and his bride left on a late train last night for a wedding journey of three weeks, after which they will return to the city to make their home with the parents of the bride. Mr. Whitten is a son of Mrs. Martha Whitten of Centre avenue, and of the late Rev. James Whitten of Philadelphia. He is a graduate of the State university, class of '93. Mrs. Whitten is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hare. She was born in Allegheny, removing to Pittsburgh with her family early in life. She is a graduate of the Slippery Rock State Normal school.

Golden Wedding Celebration.

A reception was held last evening at the residence of the Rev. Dr. H. L. Chapman and his wife of Aspinwall. It was the golden wedding anniversary of the couple, who were married July 30, 1853. Dr. Chapman is pastor of the Aspinwall Methodist Episcopal church and arrangements were made for the reception by committees composed of members of the church. Among these is Mrs. J. S. Graves, Mrs. H. A. Stout, Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mrs. A. B. Resse, Mrs. W. C. Scott, Mrs. Howard William Curtis, C. K. Cameron, Grant Darby, E. J. Short, Walter Parkins, A. B. Reese and Hugh Campbell. Among the guests were two brothers of Dr. Chapman and Mrs. A. R. Chapman of Steubenville and Prof. T. J. Chapman of Ingram and their wives; C. W. Boucher of the East End, Mrs. Emily Wood and Mrs. Annie Beam, brother and sisters of Mrs. Chapman. These five attended the wedding 50 years ago. Dr. Chapman has occupied pulpits for the past 53 years, and both he and his wife have a large circle of friends in Western Pennsylvania. Mrs. Chapman was Miss Agnes C. Stahl of Ligonier before her marriage, and it was in this mountain home that Mr. Chapman first met the woman who became his wife. The wedding trip 50 years ago was a drive from Ligonier, where the ceremony was performed, to Washington, and from there to Pittsburgh and Kittanning, following the Allegheny river. Dr. Chapman has occupied pulpits in all parts of the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist church and also acted as chaplain in the United States army under command of Col. J. B. Clarke. Johnstown at the time of the flood was Dr. Chapman's pastorate, and his work for the sufferers at that time was highly commended. His was the work of re-establishing the church in Johnstown after the flood, and in his hands were placed the funds sent for the relief of the people. During all the years of their married life Mrs. Chapman has been her husband's helper in his work.

Scott—Rodgers.

The principals of an exceedingly pretty wedding at Norwood last evening were Miss Edna May Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Scott, and Hugh Hall Rodgers of McKees Rocks. The wedding took place at the bride's home at 8 o'clock, the Rev. O. Newton Verner of McKees Rocks Presbyterian church officiating. The bride's cousin, Miss Mabel Imbrie of Beaver, was her only attendant. A. D. Rodgers was best man. Porter and Walker Scott, brothers of the bride, acted as ushers. The bride wore a modish gown of white embroidered silk over taffeta and carried a shower bouquet of roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Imbrie, the maid of honor, wore rose-colored chiffon over silk. Her flowers were roses. Miss Alda Ramsey, the little flower girl, wore a lace frock and carried a basket of small white blossoms. Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers left for a trip to Buffalo and the lakes, after which they will be at home Wednesdays after August 12 in Grove street, West Park. The wedding supper was served and the reception held on the lawn surrounding the Scott home. Hundreds of rose-colored lanterns were hung from tree to tree, giving a most picturesque effect. The interior of the house was handsomely decorated, pink and white sweet peas being used effectively. The ceremony was performed under a large arch of maidenhair fern, plumosa and white sweet peas, suspended from which was an immense ball of pink sweet peas. The stairway was decorated with flowers and palms and the tables held centerpieces of pink and white blooms.

Where Shall I Stay in Colorado?

If you have planned to spend your vacation in Colorado, we have a neat little "Handbook of Colorado" that will answer this question for you.

It tells where more than 200 hotels, boarding houses and ranches are situated; what board will cost by the week and month; what you can do and see; how to get there; the name and address of the proprietor, with a few words about climate and scenery.

This handbook will tell you of places where excellent fare and capital quarters can be secured for as little as $8 to $10 a week, or for as much more as you want to pay.

You can easily figure out beforehand just what your vacation will cost. Round-trip tickets from Chicago to Denver, Colorado Springs or Pueblo cost $30, daily until September 30. Good returning until October 31.

Every day until September 30, a Pullman tourist sleeping car will leave Chicago for Denver on train No. 3 at 10.30 p. m. For summer travel the tourist sleepers are more comfortable than the heavily upholstered palace cars. The cost of a double berth, comfortably holding two, in a tourist sleeper from Chicago to Denver is only $2.50. Our Denver trains also carry palace sleeping cars, dining cars, and reclining chair cars (seats free).

Cut out the coupon below, send it to Mr. Thomas, and you will receive a free copy of the Colorado Handbook.

You never tire of SHREDDED WHEAT WHOLE BISCUIT

Because it can be prepared in over 250 different ways

It is thoroughly cooked and ready for instant use

To Women Who Think

Dishes prepared with Shredded Wheat are not only attractive to the eye and pleasing to the palate—but appeal to the reason.

The great food conservatory in which it is made is sun-flooded through 30,000 lights of glass, coursed by filtered and uniformly tempered air and finished in white enamel. It is a purer and more hygienic place than the cleanest kitchen—a place where contamination cannot occur.

No other cereal food has as great a surface for the action of the digestive fluids as Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit. This is true because the wheat is not crushed into dense masses but spun out into porous shreds. These shreds are crisp and compel thorough mastication, which strengthens the teeth and insures complete digestion.

Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit perfectly nourishes the whole body and purifies the digestive tract.

Will you use it?

COPPER STOCKS SUFFER HEAVILY

Amalgamated Loses Six Points as Result of Bear Raid.

LOWEST PRICE ON RECORD

Selling Due to Closing of Big Loans Through Exhausted Margins—Covering of Short Sales at Close Causes Slight Rally.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, July 23.

Another liquidation movement developed in the stock market today and prices became demoralized under an avalanche of selling orders in Amalgamated Copper. This stock declined six points to 39¾, the lowest price on record, and a decline of about 90 points from the high point in the copper boom of 1901.

The downward movement in Amalgamated stock became pronounced soon after the noon hour. The opinion at the close was that the selling was due to the closing out of big loans through exhausted margins. The collapse had a sympathetic effect on the shares of all the standard railroad stocks, as well as the leading industrials. The market had a dull and heavy tone previous to the collapse of copper prices, through which considerable liquidation of a quiet character was progressing.

When the avalanche of selling orders struck the market Amalgamated Copper stock was selling at 45. Under the heavy offerings the stock declined in running sales of 200 to 1,500 shares to 40. At this point the decline met with considerable resistance, but the offerings were in such quantities that the selling orders more than filled the buying demand and the price of 40, which has been often discussed for Amalgamated Copper, was broken. On the floor of the exchange it was said the selling was general, a great crowd of brokers surrounding the copper pit apparently intent upon marketing the shares of the great copper company. Toward the close the covering of short sales helped in a little recovery, but the market for the stock closed feverish at 40.

The early impression in Wall street was that the first selling movement which broke the price, came from Boston. It was pointed out that the copper movement was almost identical with that in United States Steel a few days ago when a large line of stock was closed out and the traders thereupon seized the opportunity to attack the market during the liquidation of a big line of stock. The selling of collateral in loans is now beginning to make itself evident in the market from large out of town institutions, and in many instances local banks are unable to explain where such large loans are held.

FIRE DANCE OF ISIS.

Marvelous Spectacle Incidental to the Fall of Pompeii at Exposition Park.

Accustomed though he was to extravagant spectacular scenes of splendor in his time, the powerful Egyptian Arbaces would rub his eyes in wonder could he now gaze upon the gorgeous fete show in Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii," which are in a measure supposed to be a representation of the festivities of his day. But it is a long lapse of time between A. D. 79 and the present day and some marvelous improvements have been made in the interim. Thus Pain outshines Arbaces in securing results.

In the fete days of ancient Rome the fire dance of Isis was one of the most popular of festivities. In the coming Pain Pompeiian spectacle this dance is reproduced with startling effects. Eight handsome, shapely dancers, draped in hundreds of yards of flaming silk, execute the figures of the Pompeiian dance, completely enveloped in a furnace of fire. Ingentous pyrotechnic devices and a battery of powerful electric searchlights are brought into play to secure the marvelous results, and this ballet is said to be the most beautiful and amazing ever seen in an open-air or stage production.

Another attractive dance is the Greco-Roman ballet by beautiful Greek slaves.

PICNICKERS IN TROUBLE.

Many Are Too Late to Catch Boat, and Yough Is Too High for Navigation.

The big excursion to Olympia park of the Wylie Avenue and Herron Avenue Baptist schools and the Mt. Washington Methodist Episcopal school had troubles yesterday. The Mayflower started out with several hundred women and children and great quantities of provisions. Shortly after the steamer pulled out of sight a large number of picnickers reached the wharf too late to catch the boat. They went to the pay by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and arrived early.

When the Mayflower reached the Fifth street bridge at McKeesport in the Youghiogheny river, although the boat is built to go under bridges by letting down her pilot house and smokestacks, the Yough was too high, and the excursionists had to disembark and take street cars. Capt. John F. Klein made good his promise to land them at the park by providing cars.

CURB STONE WORKERS PRESENT WAGE SCALE

Strike May Be Declared if Contractors Do Not Sign the Agreement.

The Curb and Flagstone Cutters, Setters and Helpers' assembly, No. 1,700, K. of L., organized about two months ago, has prepared a scale. It calls for the same wages now paid by several of the leading firms. The following is the agreement.

Nine hours to constitute a day's work.

Curb stone setters to receive 5½ cents per foot, or 45 cents per hour.

Curb setters' helpers to receive a minimum of $2 25 per day, or more, if mutually agreed upon.

For cutting new curb stone in the city of Pittsburgh, 12 cents per foot, or 50 cents per hour.

For cutting old or new curb stones, on old streets, 10 cents per foot, or 50 cents per hour.

For cutting new curb stones in the city of Allegheny, 9 cents per foot, or 50 cents per hour.

For cutting old curb stones in the city of Allegheny, 8 cents per foot, or 50 cents per hour.

For cutting new curb stones in Wilkinsburg, 10 cents per foot, or 50 cents per hour.

In the hiring of men, members of the assembly in good standing are to be given the preference of employment.

The committee was appointed to visit the contractors, and the assembly will hold a special meeting Sunday morning to hear its report. A special meeting of the executive board of the Knights of Labor will be held Sunday evening, to finally act upon the action of the assembly. If a strike is ordered, the district will sanction the move and will assist the curb workers in their fight.

The Pavers and Rammers' local assembly, No. 6266, decided that they will not pave any streets where the crub stones have been handled by non-union men. The decision will be put into force Monday.

The curb setters number about 200 men and only about 10 per cent of those engaged in the two cities are not members of the organization. The scale is the most moderate one arranged this season. Nearly all new scales call for an advance, while the setters' agreement is the same as is being paid by several contractors. There are some paying less. The assembly contends if one contractor can pay a certain rate another can, when they receive the same price from the general contractors. The repairing of streets is taken by contract and the general contractors sub-let the work. The new agreement is being presented to both general and sub-contractors.

LABOR DAY MEETINGS.

General Committee Will Elect Staff Officers Tonight.

Four different meetings to transact business in the preparation for the Labor day celebration will be held this evening. At 7 o'clock the badge committee will meet in the office of Secretary William J. Kelley. Fifteen minutes later the souvenir committee will meet. At 7:30 the executive committee will meet in the Building Trades council hall, No. 223 Fourth avenue.

At the general committee meeting the staff officers for the parade will be elected. No contest is looked for in these elections, and in many instances local banks are unable to explain where such large loans are held.

INDUSTRIALS AGAIN DECLINED SHARPLY

Amalgamated Copper Broke Through 40 and Many Other Prominent Stocks Sold at the Lowest Prices of the year.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a resumption of forced liquidation in the stock market yesterday, in which the industrials were the greatest sufferers. The most demoralizing factor was the break of 6 points in Amalgamated Copper. The stock, which was quoted ex-dividend of ½ per cent, opened at 45¾, and in the final dealings broke to 39½ on a perfect avalanche of offerings, closing at the lowest, which is also the lowest in the history of the company. Prior to this incident, which was the climax of the day's trading, there had been liquidation in many of the minor industrials. One of the weakest was United Realty Construction, the common breaking to 9 and the preferred to 46, the lowest prices ever quoted. This movement may have been influenced by the failure of the Boston firm of contractors, which was announced shortly before the close of the market on Wednesday. This failure was supplemented by that of another firm of contractors in Toronto, which was reported yesterday. The United Realty Construction Company is not yet a year old, having been organized last August. Its board embraces some of the best known financiers and business men in the country, but it apparently received no support yesterday, and the par value of its capitalization, which is $50,000,000, yesterday had a market value of a trifle over $15,000,000. Tennessee Coal and Iron broke to a new low level by selling at 39¼, and this in the face of a report for the June quarter showing an increase in surplus earnings of $500,000, or more than 100 per cent. Colorado Fuel and Iron broke from 49 to 45, the lowest price since the announcement of the admission of Rockefeller interest into the company. The United States Steel stocks sympathized with the general weakness, but the pressure against them was not so severe as on several occasions during the past week. The common stock opened fractionally at 23⅜ and advanced to 23¾, but in the late dealings, when Amalgamated Copper was breaking, Steel sold off to 22¾. The preferred stock opened firmer at 71⅝, advanced to 72 and reacted to 70¾ at the close. Anaconda Copper broke 7 per cent to 70 and closed at 60 bid. General Electric broke from 164½ to 159 and recovered to 161¼. Sugar broke from 115¼ to 113½. American Ice broke to 5 for the common and to 20 for the preferred, the lowest prices of the year.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

With the exception of the Rock Island issues, the railroad stocks held fairly steady during the early part of the day, opened firm and fractionally higher, shading off slightly and then becoming dull. In the final dealings, however, the best of the standard securities declined and some new low records were made. Rock Island common broke to 25⅝ and the preferred to 63¼, the lowest ever quoted, and both closed near the bottom. Chicago & Northwestern made a new low record by breaking to 161 and Union Pacific got down to within a small fraction of its previous low level. There was heavy selling of St. Paul, which broke 2 per cent to 140, and of Pennsylvania, which declined from 122 to 120⅝. Missouri Pacific broke from 98½ to 97, and Wabash preferred from 38½ to 36. New York Central was 1½ per cent lower at 117½. Reading broke 2⅝ per cent to 48 and Erie first preferred broke 1½ per cent to 67.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The dealings were very unevenly distributed. During the first two hours the transactions were less than 200,000 shares. For the remaining three hours they approximated 475,000 shares, the total for the day reaching 690,000 shares. The lowest prices occurred after 2:15 p. m., when the onslaught was made on Amalgamated Copper. The character of the selling was closely observed and it was the consensus of opinion that a large part of it outside Amalgamated Copper was forced liquidation conducted through a prominent western house. The latter early in the day was credited with heavy sales of Realty Construction and Tennessee Coal and Iron. Later it became a heavy seller of Pennsylvania, estimated at fully 10,000 shares. In the closing half hour the heaviest selling in St. Paul and Northwestern was traced to the same source. In the absence of any news to account for it, the selling was generally ascribed to forced liquidation, and rumor was again free with the name of a prominent man as the probable principal, who was letting go his investments, having cleaned house of speculative accounts early in the week. The house referred to was the heaviest seller of United States Steel on Tuesday's break, but its dealings in this stock yesterday were not conspicuous. As stated, there was nothing in the day's development in the way of legitimate news to warrant the resumption of liquidation. It was thought to be a favorable incident that London prices were steady to firm, and also that the declining tendency continued in the grain market. On the other hand, some disappointment was expressed over the resumption of bull speculation in cotton, which again advanced sharply. Call money rates continued easy, the quotations ruling at 1¾ to 2 per cent. Time money remained firm at 4 per cent and lenders were disposed to discriminate sharply in the matter of collateral. The only argument on the minor industrials was that these companies had not provided themselves with sufficient means to make the improvements necessary to maintain plants at the highest degree of efficiency, and therefore dividends might be jeopardized. The effect of the slump in Amalgamated Copper was fully as great as that in United States Steel on Tuesday and at the close of the market the more cheerful feeling noted on Wednesday had disappeared.

The local stock market was fairly active and the tone was steady to firm until the latter part of the afternoon, when it weakened in sympathy with Wall street. Closing prices show net gains and losses about evenly distributed. National Fire Proofing common declined to 22 and the preferred to 33½, being influenced by the weakness prevailing in eastern stocks affiliated with the building trade. Crucible Steel was less active than for several days past, but both the common and preferred closed at slight net gains. United States Steel common declined to 23 and the preferred to 71¼ on fairly active trading. Manufacturers Light and Heat was active and lower, selling down to 35⅜ and closing at a net decline of ½. Ohio Fuel Supply was also ½ lower at 30. Pittsburgh Coal common was active and firm at 27¼ to 27½, but the preferred remained dull, one small lot selling at 85. River Coal common sold at 10¼ and the preferred at 38¾. Westinghouse Electric first preferred declined to 88 and the second preferred to 87.

Iron City Trust advanced 3 per cent to 147 and Federal National Bank was firmer. The other members of this group were barely steady. Colonial Trust sold at 550 and that price was bid. American Trust was offered at 490 and closed with bid. Farmers Deposit National Bank was offered at 1,720 and closed without bid. North American Savings declined to 145. Brewing bonds were ½ per cent lower at 111.

Amalgamated Copper in Pittsburgh.

The break of 6 points in Amalgamated Copper yesterday, bringing the market value of this $150,000,000 combination down to less than $60,000,000, was a matter of more than passing interest in Pittsburgh, where the failure of the stock to make good the predictions of insiders will long remain a subject which only the most vigorous language will do justice to. Amalgamated was once a great favorite in this city, large contracts bought during the first year of its history by people who supposed they had the right tip from innermost circles of the management. In April, 1900, the stock made its famous run from 90 to 128. The following month it made an equally famous slump to 80, only to recover to 130 in June. In July it was back to 100, and for the ensuing three months it was good for a fluctuation of 10 or 12 per cent a month, affording excellent opportunities for the active speculator. It was about this time that an influential coterie of Pittsburgh capitalists began to buy it confidently on the predication that the next swing would carry it to 150. The wide fluctuations of the preceding six months, the rapidity with which the stock recovered, and the general features of the speculation hardened the nerve of the speculators, who swiftly kept bringing it down and patiently waited for the fulfillment of the predictions. Pittsburgh liquidated last year. The head of a large local brokerage house yesterday estimated that Amalgamated had cost Pittsburgh at least $20,000,000 in these years. Other brokers thought this was an exaggeration, but nevertheless placed the loss at a high figure. The high standing of the directorate had as much influence with investment buyers as the supposed intrinsic value of the securities. The Amalgamated board is composed of such gentlemen as H. H. Rogers, Frederic O. Vanderbilt, Robert Bacon, William Rockefeller, William G. Rockefeller, H. H. Flower and A. C. Burrage. Despite these names the market value of the stock yesterday declined $15,000,000.

Realty Construction.

United Realty Construction, another industrial, which was under the hammer yesterday also has a board with notable names. Among the latter are James Stillman, head of the National City bank; C. M. Schwab, James H. Hyde, Cornelius Vanderbilt, John W. Gates, E. C. Converse, Charles Francis Adams and others. They is 200,000 shares of stock, valued $27,000,000 preferred, a total of $50,000,000, and the market value of both at yesterday's lowest prices was a little more than $15,000,000. It was a matter of comment yesterday that a stock thus directed should be absolutely without support.

American Ice was another "specialty" that suffered in the liquidation. It has $25,000,000 common stock and $15,000,000 preferred, a total of $40,000,000, and the market value of the outfit at the lowest prices was less than $8,000,000.

Tomorrow's Bank Statement.

It is the general expectation that tomorrow's bank statement will make a favorable showing. Since last Friday the banks have gained $1,500,000 from the sub-treasury. The gain in currency from the interior must also have been large, for the country has been sending money all week to protect its interests in Wall street. Then the enormous liquidation in the stock market will count in the loan item—or rather should count. In addition to this, the Pennsylvania railroad has been paying off part of its loan, and there was no loss through gold exports.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

While Amalgamated Copper was breaking yesterday and just as the price touched 40, a lightning calculator remarked: "There goes Amalgamated on to a 35 cent basis." While financiers were talking about securities "getting down to a 5 per cent basis," about four months ago it was not then supposed that Amalgamated would accomplish the feat by breaking a new low record.

Telephone stock sold at 120 yesterday, an advance of a dollar a share over the last previous sale.

A block of 120 shares Hunt Foundry & Machine Company stock was sold yesterday on the exchange at auction for account of whom it may concern at a dollar a share.

The Boston market for copper shares was more or less demoralized, there being some violent breaks in prices. There was nothing to account for the weakness in this group. In London the metal was strong and higher, and in New York there was no further decline in quoted prices.

J. M. Anderson was a seller of 500 shares National Fire Proofing common at 22.

Farmers Deposit National bank stock was offered yesterday at 1,720, which is equivalent to about 400 for Colonial Trust. The latter, however, sold at 550 and that price was bid for more. American Trust was offered at 490 and closed without bid.

Call money was very plentiful on the New York exchange yesterday, millions being offered at 2 per cent. Many commission houses supplied themselves with time money early in the year. The liquidation in the stock market has reduced the amount of stocks they are carrying, and consequently left them with idle money on their hands, which accounts for the ease in call loan rates.

The break in Amalgamated was responsible for the rumor that the Standard Oil interests favor lower prices for stocks.

The head of a very large Wall street commission house wired this advice to Pittsburgh after the close of the market: "It is impossible to foretell to what extent liquidation is going on in the industrials, but as we expressed to you in the past few days we regard the standard railroad shares and the preferred shares of the second class of railroads as having now reached a point that will sooner or later show the purchaser good results, provided always he keeps himself in condition to protect his interests in any temporary disturbance."

There were 59 bidders for the $8,500,000 city of New York 3½ per cent corporate stock. Of the issue $2,000,000 will be awarded to the Sinking Fund Trust company which bid 102.39 for $2,000,000 or any part thereof. The First National bank and Harvey Fiske & Co. bid 100.80 for all or any of the whole issue, or 105 for $100,000.

Corporations in good credit and with good collateral, bankers said, can borrow all the money they need at the present time for legitimate purposes at the market rate for money. On the other hand, of course, corporations of indifferent credit and with relatively poor or shaky collateral find it very difficult to raise money. This applies to all corporation industrials as well as railroads. It may be said that at this time both credit and collaterals are getting more careful than a year ago, and that the intrinsic value of collaterals is being severely tested. Another important factor that enters into the fixing of the rate to be paid for corporation borrowers of large sums of money, such as those under discussion, is the available supply of money at the center where the loan is made. Railroad and industrial corporations are not, it is said, borrowing appreciably more now than they ordinarily do. In normal times, however, they would be able to sell their treasury bonds in such sums as needed from time to time, but they are not able to do so now results in all of them trying to borrow money at once. When they sell bonds or stocks they appeal to people all over the country with proposals to invest. They are compelled to borrow temporarily to meet an emergency, as at present, they concentrate the demand at one or more centers and among a few lenders, with a natural result that the rate is increased. It is worth noting that while these remarks apply with equal force to industrial as well as railroad corporations, there are several notable exceptions. Railroad and industrial corporations that not only never need to borrow any money, but are constant and regular lenders of millions of dollars in the market. The largest individual company in the world, the United States Steel corporation, is now known to be a lender of money in the market, but it has always a cash balance in its banks of $50,000,000 or more, so that it does not have to borrow.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

NEW CHURCH FOR WILKINSBURG

St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Congregation Will Build $75,000 Edifice.

FIFTH AVENUE STORE LEASED

Clarke Sale Confirmed by Orphan's Court—Two Big Warehouses Are Announced—Bank Building for Edinboro and Church for Carnegie.

A beautiful stone edifice, to cost $75,000, is to take the place of the small frame building where the congregation of the St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church of Wilkinsburg now worships. The old structure is located at the corner of Pitt and Franklin streets and on Tuesday the trustees bought, through R. S. Faris & Co., a plot 66x132 feet, adjoining, to complete the site for the new church. The lot belonged to Mary Cromlise and was sold for $11,000. The old houses on the lot will be moved to another street and the frame church will be moved to one corner of the lot, leaving a site 132 feet square for the new building. Title to the property was taken by C. B. Judd, senior warden of the church, and C. B. Murray, secretary of the vestry. Plans will be prepared at once and the work rushed to early completion, as the present church building is entirely too small for the congregation. Under the charge of the Rev. R. W. Patton, who came to Wilkinsburg from Richmond, Va., one year ago, the congregation of St. Stephen's has made wonderful progress, the membership having more than doubled. The project to build a new church has been under consideration for some time and the new house of worship will be probably the finest in Wilkinsburg.

Buy Cigar Store Lease.

An eastern firm has again invaded Pittsburgh and captured one of the best storerooms in the city. The newcomers are Japanese merchants from New York—Mogi Emanary & Co.—who have bought from the United Cigar Stores Company the lease on No. 352 Fifth avenue, opposite the Park building. The site was picked out after a week's canvass of the city by the Japanese and the deal was negotiated by the Real Estate Trust Company. The building is a three-story brick with a good basement, and measures 20.8x120 feet. The New Yorkers secured a five-year lease, for which they pay $10,000 a year. Possession will be given October 1. The deal fixes a new price for Fifth avenue storerooms and shows how desirable this street is regarded by outsiders, as this firm was offered several good buildings within a square or two at one-half or even one-third the rent they pay for this one. The firm has the largest business in the country in cigars and novelties and novelties in addition to its stores in New York and Boston, has four stores at Atlantic City and is establishing another at Cincinnati.

Clarke Corner Brought $150,000.

The sale of the Charles J. Clarke property, arranged by Samuel W. Black & Company, was ratified by the orphans' court yesterday. The consideration was $150,000, and the buyer is Murry A. Verner, who takes the property for an investment. It has a frontage of 400 feet in Forbes street and 400 feet in Craft avenue, and includes four acres, running back to within about 25 feet of the old Clarke residence. The lot was originally bought Tuesday by the Eighteenth regiment, N. G. P., for $100,000. This makes a total of $250,000 received for the Clarke property, which Mr. Clarke bought short[ly] before his death for $205,000. The Clarke lot adjoins the Magee residence lot, 238x264 feet, at Forbes and Halket streets, which was left for the use of the Elizabeth Steele Magee memorial hospital.

Two Warehouses Planned.

Two more big warehouses will soon be built to help take care of the rapidly increasing wholesale business of the city. The larger one will belong to C. Sunstein & Sons, the wholesale liquor dealers, and will extend from First to Second avenue at a point a short distance below Smithfield street. The present three-story building now has a front in First avenue at Nos. 317-325, where the firm's liquor store is located. In Second avenue it is known as Nos. 318-322 and is occupied by the Harris Pump & Supply Company. The new building, on which work will be started early in August, will cover the entire lot, 50x160 feet. Plans for it have already been prepared by Architect Charles Bickel, calling for an eight-story warehouse of the slow burning type. This will be almost an exact mate for the eight-story warehouse which Hamilton Brothers are erecting on the adjoining lot to the west.

The other warehouse will be erected by the Bair & Gazzam Manufacturing Company at Twenty-ninth and Smallman streets. Bids on its erection will be asked next week by the architects, Struthers & Hannah, and the estimated cost is $75,000. The building will be four stories high, 65x120 feet, and of steel construction to make it extra strong for the strain of machinery. The Bair & Gazzam property at Third avenue and Ferry street has been leased to Mr. Diamond, but the settlement has yet been made and the firm has received no orders to vacate.

McKeesport Prices Raised.

The United Real Estate Company of McKeesport, which was organized last spring, has the distinction of breaking all previous price records in Fifth avenue by the sale of the Hartman block for $180,000. The property is at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Walnut street, Mansfield, and measures 80x120 feet. This makes the rate of sale $2,250 a foot for the Fifth avenue frontage. Directly across Fifth avenue is the Ruben property, lately bought for $145,000. The Hartman building is a two-story brick containing four big store rooms. It was owned by Henry Hartman and is occupied by D. H. Clark of the D. L. Clark company, candy manufacturers, and George W. Hartman. The two sales in this square were both made at nearly double what the property was bought for two years ago, showing the very rapid enhancement in the value of business property in McKeesport.

W. M. Laird has sold to Jennie Pereistine 40x93 feet on the north side of Pilms avenue, Eleventh ward, for $28,000. The lot is improved with three two-story brick houses.

New Bank for Edinboro.

Architects Struthers & Hannah have plans for a bank and office building to cost $10,000 for the Edinboro Savings bank. The officers of the bank are S. B. Hotchkiss, president; I. R. Reeder, vice-president, and V. B. Billings, cashier.

The same architects are receiving estimates on a $10,000 brick residence for J. Maynard Williamson in Linden avenue, East End.

Two apartment houses are being designed by Architect James T. Steen to cost $15,000 each. One will belong to John Farrell and will be erected at Miltenberger and Ann streets, and the other at East and Shawnee streets, Allegheny, will be owned by William Fisher.

Work has been started on the removal of the guild hall of the English Lutheran church, Eighth street, Sewickley, which purchased the site recently bought by the government for $100,000 for the Federal building. The hall is a frame building and will be swung around to the rear of the lot and Shawnee street. Allegheny, will be owned by William Fisher.

One More Step in Litigation.

Attorneys S. S. Mehard, Henry A. Davis and Reed, Smith, Shaw & Beal yesterday filed demurrers to the equity bills filed by D. F. Henry and Annie E. Henry against Sarah L. Black and Union Realty Company, F. J. Coyle, Jr., and W. W. Mellon. The demurrers sets forth that the plaintiffs have not shown in their bill sufficient facts for a case cognizable in a court of equity and that the bill does not set forth any cause of action or that any contracts anforcible specifically in a court of equity. The bill was filed by the Henrys to prevent the sale of the Hotel Duquesne property to anyone except them. If the demurrer is sustained, the sale of the property to the Mellons will be fully established.

The chief objection to telephones for railroad service has been the lack of something to record messages. When mistakes are made there are no copies or proofs to go by. The telegraphone for this reason is being carefully and seriously considered by the Pennsylvania officials. Of course, it is not intended to install telephones for the operation of through trains, but to improve the yard systems of telephones.

Telephone Recorder.

Officials of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh yesterday tested a device for recording sound waves with a special reference to telephones. The instrument—or the principle upon which the instruments are built—there are several of them—was invented by [illegible] Poulsen, an electrical engineer of Denmark. The machines are called the "telegraphone." The principle upon which they operate is the recording of sound waves by localizing magnetism. The waves are recorded on steel discs, piano wires and steel bands. One may talk into an ordinary receiver and have the conversation recorded. This was the first step of the inventor. He then made steel discs which hold waves and can be used for commercial purposes. The same principle is applied to very fine wire. By localizing magnetism one may speak on the wire for the length of a mile or two or more miles for that matter.

The most important machine might be called a "dissemninator." It has a number of magnetic attachments which give off on separate wires a conversation being spoken on one wire. By means of the long spools of wire it is expected to make several important changes in the system of telegraphy. A man in Philadelphia will talk one hour on a spool. This spool will then be attached to a wire leading to, say, New York, at which end will be a second spool to catch the conversation and record it. The first spool when attached to the wire will be started at an exceedingly high rate of speed, say 50 times as fast as the rate at which it was running when the conversation was being recorded. The one at New York will be run at the same speed, which will allow the one hour message to be transmitted in about five minutes. Then by running the New York instrument at a moderate speed the conversation can be taken off just as it was first recorded. The records in all cases are destroyed by simply passing a magnet over or across them when the discs and wires are again ready for use.

The chief objection to telephones for railroad service has been the lack of something to record messages. When mistakes are made there are no copies or proofs to go by. The telegraphone for this reason is being carefully and seriously considered by the Pennsylvania officials. Of course, it is not intended to install telephones for the operation of through trains, but to improve the yard systems of telephones.

HOME GROWN PEAS IN POOR CONDITION

Georgia Peaches Lower in Price. Cheese Quotations Decline. Eggs Are Weak.

It has been a poor year for peas, starting off with too much cold weather, followed later by too much rain, and this vegetable has had a hard time, not having been able to measure up to its average either in the quantity produced or the quality of the production. Just now home-grown peas are coming to market in very poor condition, and are not finding favor with buyers. They are hard to sell, and prices are very uncertain, varying to a wide range on account of the condition of the offerings. On the other hand, string beans are plentiful, and are moving freely, with prices moderate but steady. Home-grown potatoes are gradually getting to larger size, while offerings are more plentiful. Prices have come down and quotations now named are no more than steady. Corn from nearby growers is in better supply and is quoted at $3 a bushel. It is likely that by the first of the coming week there will be plenty of corn, and prices will be more reasonable. So far arrivals from the south have not been as good as could have been desired and there will be a ready market for the home product. Tomatoes continue plentiful, with prices unchanged.

Georgia peaches are lower in price, due more to the poor stock than to anything else, unfortunately as to quality rather than to any great supply of fruit. Other fruits are unchanged in price. California navel oranges have given place to Valencias, which are now coming from the Pacific coast.

There is no perceptible increase in the quantity of poultry being received here, and prices remain high, dealers reporting a great scarcity of chickens. While farmers are busy with harvesting little attention is paid to the shipment of poultry, and central markets suffer from a shortage.

Occasional shipments of new hay continue to arrive, and prices rule at about $15 50@16 50 for new No. 1 timothy. Dealers are expecting to see receipts increased next week. So far shipper are not willing to pay much for new stock, for fear of its heating before it reaches market. Quotations for all grades of hay and grains remained unchanged yesterday. Oats are, perhaps, a trifle steadier. Middlings are firm at quotations, but bran is weak and lower.

The butter situation is still slow and eggs are weak. Cheese declined a half cent yesterday, being now down about as low as it went last year.

Groceries remain steady, but without change in prices. Sugar demand, while not as large as it was at this time last year, is growing, and refiners are behind with shipments of some grades. The market is strong. Coffee is unchanged. Flour is held at quotations which have ruled all week.

CREDIT BALANCES GIVEN ANOTHER GOOD BOOST

Oil operators were greatly encouraged by the announcement yesterday that credit balances were advanced. Pennsylvania went up from $1 33 to $1 56, North Lima from $1 16 to $1 18 and South Lima and Indiana from $1 11 to $1 13. This is an advance of 6 cents for high-grade product within a week, and the prices are the highest of the year. The advances also leads to the belief that still higher figures will be reached shortly.

The late completions in the deep sand territory in the Folsom district in Wetzel county are small producers. Some show very little oil when first drilled in and nearly all must be pulled to get any production.

The South Penn Oil Company has completed its test on the Omer E. Hall farm and has a 30-barrel producer. The same company is drilling in the Gordon at its test on the Tom Edgell farm and has developed a light gasser.

East of Mannington, Marion county, the McEwin Oil Company has drilled its No. 17 on the Mrs. N. S. Beatty farm through the Gordon and has developed a fair gas pressure. East of the Robinson tract in Wetzel county the South Penn Oil Company has completed No. 48 on the Mathews tract, which is a fair 30-barrel producer in the Gordon. In the lower end of the "Little Germany" district in Marshall county the South Penn has given its No. 1 an old producer on the Redfox heirs' farm, a big shot, consisting of 100 quarts, and the well produces 10 barrels the first 24 hours.

In Meade district, Tyler county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 7 on the Mary J. Fairfax farm through the Big Injun sand and has a 10 or 15-barrel pumper. This well failed to find the Cow Run formation.

The McElhenny Oil Company, operating in Ritchie county, the Salem Oil Company has completed its test on the J. A. Riggenbothem farm in the salt sand and has a show for a small pumper. In the Waverly district, Wood county, Hennegen & Daly have completed No. 2 on the Mary E. P. Grahame farm and have a 5-barrel pumper in the Cow Run sand. In the Burning Springs district in Wirt county Roberts Bros. have completed a test on the E. Gibson farm and have a duster in the Big Injun sand at a depth of 1,900 feet. In the district G. H. & M. Mealy have drilled their No. 18 on the William Gibson farm through the second Cow Run sand at a depth of 600 feet and have an 8-barrel pumper.

Near Newport, Washington county, O., in the shallow sand district, the Trask Oil Company has completed its No. 7 on the Miller heirs' farm and has a small pumper in the Cow Run sand. In the Wilkins district in the same county O. E. Bennett has completed his No. 4 for the George Martin farm and has about 6 a shot...on but will have a very light test for the Graysville district in Monroe county, W. J. Parker has completed his No. 9 on the M. S. Hartshorn farm and has a 15-barrel pumper in the Keener sand. In the Scottown district, Wantland county, Ky., the Miller Oil Company has completed its No. 4 on the J. Wilds farm and has a 5-barrel pumper in the Squaw sand. In the Britsaria district in Greene county, Pennsylvania, the South Penn Oil Company has completed a second test on the W. W. Morris farm as a 10-barrel pumper.

In the Whisky Run extension on Sonde creek, Ritchie county, West Virginia, the New tank at No. 1 on the J. J. Mahaney farm overflowed and ran down to No. 7 Walters farm, a drilling well, and caught fire, destroying two rigs, several tools and a string of casing. This is the second time this poor has had a scorching.

ELKS CONCLUDE ROUTINE DUTIES

New Grand Lodge Officers Are Installed and That Body Adjourns.

MACON CHARTER RESTORED

Committee on Ritual Instructed to Draw Up Complete Document and Report When Agreement Is Reached—Great Jollification in the Streets.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, July 23.—Pittsburgh Elks' headquarters closed today, after three days' effective work toward securing the meeting of the grand lodge in that city in 1905.

The largest and most successful grand lodge meeting in the history of the organization closed this evening. There were 1,064 grand lodge members in the city and a great majority attended every business session. There were two sessions of the grand lodge today. At the first only routine matters were discussed. At the evening session it was decided to restore its charter to the Macon (Ga.) lodge, the charter committee having reported favorably on the application after a thorough investigation of the charges against the lodge.

The committee on ritual was not prepared to report all the changes proposed in the ritual, and the matter will be carried over, the committee being instructed to report a complete ritual when one is agreed upon. A resolution was adopted discouraging the throwing of confetti during future grand lodge meetings.

The installation of officers followed, each outgoing and incoming officer delivering a short address. Grand Exalted Ruler Joseph T. Fanning of Indianapolis then declared the grand lodge adjourned sine die, to meet in Cincinnati, O., next year, and to the strains of "Maryland, My Maryland," the grand lodge members dispersed, nearly all singing the anthem as they left the hall.

Tonight is given up to jollification by the Elks, visitors and citizens. Bands are parading the streets and "Hello, Bill," the shibboleth of the order, is heard on every side.

Many of the visitors, especially from the southern and western states, will leave here tomorrow and Saturday for northern trips, taking in Boston, New York and Philadelphia and Atlantic City. Those from distant points, who desired to see the national capital, have visited Washington during the week.

LONDON DISTRACTED BY MOSQUITO INVASION

Bites Are Much More Virulent Than Ordinary and Much Suffering Results.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, July 23.—London is in a panic as a result of an invasion of mosquitoes, imported from America and South Africa and breeding along the banks of the Thames, where they multiply amazingly. All the ships are overrun with mosquito cases. Guys has treated as many as 20 cases in one day. One of the house surgeons said:

"We have mosquito cases every year, but never in my experience have they been so numerous and of such virulent character as they are this year. Why, in some cases the effects of the bites of these pestiferous insects have been worse than a sting of an average wasp. Babies particularly have been sufferers, and the grown people are by no means immune. I had one case, a woman who was quite blind for a time from the effects of a mosquito bite; while others have shown bitten arms which were swollen greatly and very painful. We have found the application of a hot fomentation to be the most effective remedy."

Suburban towns in Essex and Kent, contiguous to the wide stretches of marsh lands in the lower Thames valley, have suffered dreadfully. The papers are full of mosquito bite remedies and there has been an unprecedented demand for mosquito netting.

ARBITRATION AGREEMENT FOR FRANCE AND ENGLAND

LONDON, July 23.—The French senators and deputies representing the international arbitration group, accompanied by a number of British members of parliament, were formally received today by Lord Mayor Samuel, at the Manston house. The lord mayor and Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, leader of the visiting delegation, made speeches during which they reiterated and emphasized the desire for continued international friendship and the conclusion of a treaty of arbitration. It is understood that the probable result of the visit of the French delegation to London will be the formation of a Franco-British arbitration agreement, independent of The Hague court.

FAMOUS GERMAN LEADER IS COMING TO AMERICA

BERLIN, July 23.—(Special Cable.)—Felix Mottl, the famous leader will go to New York to swing his baton in the Metropolitan opera house. The Koelner Zeitung says: "The head of the Bayreuth and Munich opera, Felix Mottl, whose name has brought fame, honor and gold to the Karlsruhe opera since the early eighties, will in the coming fall leave his little Karlsruhe to become leader of the orchestra in the New York Metropolitan opera. He has been given leave of absence from October 15 to May 15. It is doubtful, however, whether he will return to Germany next year, as Mr. Conreid has offered him a five years' contract at 120,000 marks a year."

SOUFRIERE VOLCANO IS AGAIN AGITATED

KINGSTON, ISLAND OF ST. VINCENT, July 23.—The Soufriere volcano has been slightly agitated since July 19, emitting puffs intermittently, which cause elevated clouds and low rumblings. A severe earthquake shock was felt at 1:40 a. m. Tuesday, accompanied by a subterranean sound of cracking, which shook the buildings and threw the populace into a state of consternation, fearing that a disastrous eruption was imminent. The earthquake, similar to that of July 17, 1902, which preceded the eruption of September 3, 1902.

BRIEFS OFF THE CABLE.

LONDON—The new battleship King Edward VII., the largest in the world, was successfully launched by the princess of Wales at Devonport.

WOMEN'S SESSION AT CHAUTAUQUA

Many Distinguished Leaders Exchange Ideas on the Movement.

ARE WELCOMED BY VINCENT

He Speaks of the Most Profitable Uses to Which an Ambitious Woman Can Put Her Leisure—Mrs. Greely Offers Suggestion.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 23.—Chautauqua today has for her guests many prominent club women. The occasion is Women's day of Women's week and the day's exercises were under the direction of the New York State Federation of Women's clubs, of which Mrs. Charles M. Dow of Jamestown is president. There were two platform meetings, which were addressed by many club women of national reputation, among them being Mrs. D. T. S. Dennison, president of the National Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. Cynthia W. Alden, president of the International Sunshine society; Mrs. Charlotte R. Wilbur, president of Sorosis; Mrs. Dore Lyon, editor of the Clubwoman; Mrs. Philip Carpenter, president of the Society of New England Women in New York; Mrs. E. T. Vincent of Greeley, Col., president of the Chautauqua Women's club and a host of other leaders in the club woman's world.

In welcoming the guests to Chautauqua Dr. George E. Vincent said: "When President Garfield was at Chautauqua, years ago, he said the American people by their industrial genius are creating for themselves leisure. It remains to be seen how that leisure shall be employed. Chautauqua will help in solving that problem. This leisure has come first to women, and they have shown energy and idealism in taking advantage of it.

"There is very great reason why we should be glad to greet the representatives of this great movement, because the Chautauqua movement and the women's club movement have this in common, that they aim not only at the progressive development of our national life, but they aim at it in widely divergent ways. The reformer with a single purpose is a power, but he must be supplemented by those who see life in a rather more complex way, who conceive welfare in many aspects, and who strive to carry life as a whole to higher plans of achievement."

Mrs. Edward Addison Greely, secretary of the New York State Federation, one of the few American women who have attended Oxford university, in an address on the financial future of women's clubs, struck the keynote of the present tendency when she said that the combined treasuries of all the women's clubs make a startling financial possibility and the time has come when all this money must be put to some better use than the giving of social functions. Women's clubs are becoming too expensive and are too much given to experimenting. Mrs. Greely advocated the accumulation of a common reserve fund and devoting it to some purpose for the general uplift of woman.
